Memphis Special Overtakes; 1 Dead 30 Are Injured

Durham Youth Is Victim When Flier Goes Over Embankment Near Scotts- boro.

(By The Associated Press)
MEMPHIS, TENN., July 12.—One man was killed and about 30 injured, some seriously, early today when the Memphis Special on the Southern Railway was derailed two miles east of Larkinsville, Ala., according to reports received here. Ten of the more seriously injured are in a hospital at Huntsville. Four Pullmans and two coaches of the train which was en route from New York to Memphis were knocked from the engine, mail express and combination cars, and hurled down the embankment overturning.

Enquiries made at the local offices of the Southern Railway Company revealed that no report of the wreck of train No. 21, known as the Memphis Special, had been received here. It was explained that the accident took place beyond the territory embraced by the Northern Division from Greensboro, N. C. to Washington, D. C.

DURHAM BOY KILLED.

(By The Associated Press)
HUNTSVILLE, Ala., July 13.—Fifteen persons injured in a wreck of the Memphis Special near Scottsboro, Ala., early today were brought to a hospital here this morning. L. H. Carr, 19 years old of Durham, N. C., was killed. It was said that at least twelve persons were seriously hurt.

Court Gives Heiress Part Of Inheritance To Seek Film Fame

NEW YORK, July 12.—Immediately after obtaining a court order permitting the use of her inheritance for the purpose, Helen M. Andrews, of East Orange, N. J., 18, beautiful and an orphan, with a woman friend, started yesterday for Hollywood to seek screen fame.

Miss Andrews inherited considerable wealth after the death of her mother in March, but it was in the form of a trust fund. She cannot touch the principal until she is 21. Recently the value of some of her securities depreciated and this together with a secret longing made her determine to take up the film drama.

The Chancery Court in Newark yesterday directed Mrs. Margaret F. Sayre, aunt and guardian of the girl, with whom she lived, to sell certain real estate to provide funds for Miss Andrews's venture. She is to receive $200 for the trip and $100 a month until she is 21—unless she becomes successful earlier and doesn't need it.

Lady Astor's Bill Passes Final Reading

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, July 12.—Lady Astor's bill restraining the sale of intoxicants to persons under 18 years of age, passed its third and final reading in the House of Commons today by a vote of 257 to 10. While Lady Astor has the satisfaction of seeing her temperance bill passed by a big majority the opposition feared that the bill might have been expected to support the measure.

Jilted By Young Society Beauty, Kin Of Duchess Of York Ended Life

LONDON, July 12.—"His heart was broken—that was all," sobbed the Hon. Patrick Bowles-Lyon, father of young Angus Bowles-Lyon, cousin of the Duchess of York and nephew of the Earl of Strathmore, who shot himself because his sweetheart jilted him during the inquest at Woking today.

A letter written to the young aristocrat by Miss Freda Parsons, to whom he had been engaged, was only traced, "I don't love you," it began, but at this point the Coroner interrupted and refused to allow more to be read.

The verdict of the Coroner was, "Suicide while temporarily insane under the influence of his broken engagement."

No jury was convened. Apparently strict instructions from the highest source had been issued to avoid all unnecessary publicity. Leaders of the most exclusive society in London were in the court room.

Miss Parsons, garbed in deepest black, shrank and averted the face of the father of the dead young man as he denounced her on the witness stand.

Miss Parsons is a soiled beauty of the younger set, twenty-four, and daughter of the late Major General Sir Charles Parsons, who had a distinguished war record.

The father of the dead boy presented a pathetic picture on the stand. Tears coursed down his cheeks and his voice broke frequently as he told his story.

"Angus was my only remaining son—the others were killed in the war," he said. "He was twenty-three years old. For more than a year he had been in love with Miss Parsons—desperately in love. About three weeks ago they became formally engaged. Miss Parsons accepted an engagement must be broken off. Then my son wrote to Miss Parsons and received her reply in which she told him she did not love him."

A friend of the dead man, Ralph Tritton, then took the stand and testified that last Monday night, just before the young man got in his automobile and drove into the country and killed himself, he called up and told him of his intentions, but hung up the telephone before Tritton could find out where he was.

A dramatic incident occurred when Tritton said he did not think Miss Parsons was to blame. The dead boy's father rose to his feet and with blazing eyes, but an even tone of voice, said:

"That's a most cowardly and dastardly thing to say. If Miss Parsons was not to blame then my poor boy was. It is cowardly."

Tritton hastily apologized and said down. Miss Parsons didn't move.

Winners In Mill Election Posted Today; 74 Elected, Some For 2 Years

Seventy-four members of the Schoolfield "House of Representatives" were chosen in yesterday's election which took place in the Schoolfield and the Riverside group of mills, according to the official returns on the building which were posted throughout the plants today. Of this number nine were women, six being returned by the Dan River division and three from the Riverside division. A total of twenty-six members were returned from the Riverside group and 48 from the Dan River plants who, with the hold-overs from the last election bring the personnel of the house to the largest figure since Industrial Democracy has been proclaimed.

None of the results were posted last night though the count was complete. It remained for the returns to be officially passed on by the special election committee and the official list of the winners was given out this morning for the first time.

Keen interest was displayed in the election in both divisions and it was said of the Riverside election that more votes were cast than ever before. Officials of the mill who have watched the development of the "Golden Rule" policy attached significance in this election because it showed growing appeal in John Leitch's principle of the "square deal."

It will probably be August before the new House assembled for organization. At that time the mill president will make an address to the House and Senate in joint session summarizing the past year's work and giving interesting statistics on the accomplishments. Figures will also be presented showing the course of the economy dividend and what this has meant both to the mill and to the workers.

The successful candidates in yesterday's election were as follows:

The question of providing a fire escape for the Masonic Temple will be solved before many days of the busy day period of group given to the Masonic Building Corporation to conform with the state law is about to elapse. The corporation has already taken steps to meet the spirit of the law by putting up red lights and signs on every floor showing where the doors are to the staircase. Deputy Labor Commissioner Luther Fair served notice on the corporation that adequate emergency exits would have to be provided or else legal steps would be taken. It is an open question whether the state law would apply to the fireproof temple. At the same time, it has been learned that the commissioner would be satisfied if the stairway running from bottom to top of the building were made to open into the alley outside the building as well as into the lobby and it is thought possible that this minor structural correction will eliminate the necessity of legal steps.

Rev. Phillip A. Mickel, new pastor of the Shelton Memorial church was generously founded on Wednesday night by about seventy members of his congregation. The church members took the minister by surprise at the house on North Main street. Rev. Mr. Mickel came here from Charlotte Courthouse, accepting the local call tendered him. He preached last Sunday and highly impressed the congregation.

Next Mr. Mickel will be installed next Sunday night at 8 o'clock, by Rev. L. P. McCullins, of the county. Rev. Joseph Dunnington, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon.

The fact that the 13th State senatorial district convention is to be held on Friday, July 27th, will not interfere in any way with the Redville road celebration and plans are being prepared for the event. Secretary H. B. Watkins of the Chamber of Commerce, has written to Governor Trimble and to Governor Morrison of North Carolina, requesting the request made by T. P. Turner, secretary of the Redville Chamber of Commerce that they attend the affair. Mr. Watkins also has invited the supervisors of North Carolina county to attend the celebration.

Danville Kiwanis are interested in providing a tourist camp for visitors from the States and Canada or on the immediate outskirts. This matter being brought to the club's attention at last night's meeting. The growth of the number of tourist camps was mentioned and the useful purpose they serve to those who own cars and who are taking to camping trips in greater numbers as the nation's highways become permanently improved. The requisites for such a camp are said to be few, but a municipal necessity being a good location in a shady place where running water is available. It is reported that several times recently passing motorists have been seen enamped in the pines just beyond the Schoolfield baseball grounds.

Give Cause Of Low Wheat Prices

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
WASHINGTON, July 13.—Expansion in the wheat area of the chief exporting countries and the decreased buying power of western Europe have caused present low wheat prices, according to a report made public today by the committee of economists and statisticians of the American Agricultural Association.

It was recommended that American wheat growers take steps to reduce the winter wheat acreage. The present winter wheat acreage, it is stated, is about 14,000,000 acres above the pre-war average. The report deals with the foreign and domestic demands for farm products and particularly the wheat and hog situation. It is declared that the foreign demand for American products will not be as great this season as last and that an increase in the domestic demand may be expected. In connection with the corn and hog situation it is stated that a heavy hog production has wiped out large corn surpluses and that a corn shortage may develop by the summer of 1924. It is declared that neither the corn situation, the prospective European demand nor the American hog production of the very heavy hog production of the past year.

Show Unconcern Over Order Of Judge Wilkerson

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 13.—Unconcern was expressed by counsel for the railway department of the American Federation of Labor at the order of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson here yesterday which permanently restrained 400,000 members and officers of the railway shopcrafts union who went on strike last year with interfering with the operation of the railway. The unions did not contest the granting of the final injunction which was applied for by H. M. Drachert, United States Attorney General. Sixty days in which to file an appeal was granted the union. Donald R. Richter, attorney for the railway department of the Federation of Labor, said three federal judges were on record in opposition to Judge Wilkerson's construction of the law. Drachert said it must be apparent that Judge Richter arrived at opposite conclusions, he said, the final decree made permanent the temporary injunction granted October 5, 1922.

Jury Acquits Three Of Charges

Tobacco Men Want Train 46 Restored To Old Schedule

A petition signed by 31 firms and individuals in Danville who deal in tobacco will be sent today to A. D. Shelton, general superintendent of the northern division, Southern Railway, requesting that train No. 46 be restored to its old schedule. Under the schedule, which became operative on June 1st, this train is arriving in Danville at a quarter to eight o'clock. Formerly it left Greensboro at 7:40 p. m., arriving here at 9:15. Mr. Mickel came here from Charlotte Courthouse, accepting the local call tendered him. He preached last Sunday and highly impressed the congregation.

Mrs. Jas. Fitzgerald Died at Noon Today

Mrs. James Fitzgerald, a lifelong resident of Danville died at noon today at her home on Paxton street where she had been desperately ill since Saturday. Firpo Eager To Get Chance At Champion Now

Denis Thanks God He Was Arrested

RICHMOND, July 12.—Soon after taking the stand this morning, Father Denis thanked God that he had been arrested. "If I had not been arrested," he declared with much feeling, "I don't know where this thing might have ended."

The prosecution secured a point late this afternoon when Preston E. Watt, assistant secretary of Virginia Trust Co., testified that Father Denis objected to inquiry being made of the New York Bank as to whether Miss Crump had any money there when he tried to obtain a loan from this company. When court adjourned this evening, the defense announced that a wire message had been dispatched to Father Kennedy of New York asking to come to Richmond. "If I had not been arrested," he declared with much feeling, "I don't know where this thing might have ended."

KIWIANIS CLUB MEETING HELD AT COUNTRY CLUB

There was a large crowd at the Kiwanis club meeting at the Country Club last night. In addition to the members there were seven visitors in attendance.

The bronze markers to be placed by the Kiwanians at each tree planted for each Danville soldier who lost his life in the world war will be placed in the next ten days.

The club unanimously voted in favor of a joint meeting in this city of the clubs of Lynchburg, Martinsville, Reidsville, Sou. B. Boston and Danville. Invitations will be issued immediately and it is probable that the meeting will be held two weeks hence. However the time and place will be announced later. The Danville Kiwanians have had this meeting under consideration for some time and when the joint gathering is held a special program will be arranged nothing being left undone to make the occasion memorable.

The club last night voted to invite to George P. Coleman, formerly of the State Highway Department, now of the Virginia Good Roads Association, to come to Danville and address a meeting of citizens.

Bob Baumann, newly elected was the recipient of a prize last night, tendered with appropriate ceremonies.

E. T. Cox won the attendance prize.

SLIM LANCASTER CAUGHT WHILE INTERRING RUM

Many a mournful cartoon has been published depicting the last sad rites over John Lancaster, but it remains for "Slim" Lancaster, of Schoolfield to be caught in the act.

The sad part of the whole proceedings for "Slim" was the fact that Officer J. E. Cole, Constable W. T. Thomas, Chief Cole and Officer Jess Milton were sole witnesses to the ceremony, there being no mourners present though probably a plenty after the facts became known.

Lancaster was shadowed by the officers to a body of woods in Bannerfield. There he was seen to take two half gallon jars of liquor, wrap a hole in the ground and tenderly lay them in. The officers then appeared and laid their part when included disinterment of the gallon of moonshine.

Officers have been on "Slim's" trail for some time. It has been suspected that he was running a sort of private "undertaking" establishment, with a plentiful supply of "embalming" fluid on hand.

"Slim" Lancaster gave bond of $300 for his appearance before a Chatham magistrate next Monday.

U. S. GAMES ARE PLAYED BY CHINA YOUTHS

NEW YORK, July 12—Chinese schoolboys playing baseball on the lot, or lining up for football practice in the school yard would probably make an unexpected picture with make up to replace our American fancies of oriental children in always staid and decorative poses.

But these are the games which Chinese boys are playing, more than any other, according to Dr. Hou-Ki-Hu of Nankin China, who is studying in this country on a fellowship of the Rockefeller Foundation. As part of his field work to obtain the degree of Doctor of Public Health from Johns Hopkins University, Dr. Hu is now engaged in making a study of the work of the American Child Health Association, a national organization working for the improvement of methods and standards of child health care, with a staff of health and educational experts engaged in research and practical demonstration throughout the country.

"Before American games came with the Americans into China," Dr. Hu says, "Chinese children did not play at least not in your sense of play. My grandfather and my father did not play games, and the games I learned when I was a boy at school were American sports. Little girls in China used to sew and learn household tasks, but they had no active games. Now Chinese children play like children in this country. They have learned how in the American schools, and through American workers who have brought your kind of play to the children of China."

FRENCH SHIPS BACK AFTER LONG CRUISE

PARIS, July 12—The French cruiser Jules Michel and Victor Hugo, which have been on a 32,000 mile cruise around the world during the past nine months with a stunning exhibition of speed, courage, and endurance, returned to Toulon today. The cruisers received 20,000 visitors in Australia, 25,000 in New Zealand, and the same in Japan and thousands in Europe. Champagne was served to distinguished visitors and tea to the others.

Colonel E. S. Reid and the Rev. T. J. Faulkner, rector of the Episcopal church at Chatham, Va., were visitors in Danville yesterday and attended the baseball game.

Want Perfect Husband? Then Marry a Football Player

MR. AND MRS. "DADDY" AMIS (LEFT), MR. AND MRS. "BIG SIX" CARPENTER (CENTER); AND MR. AND MRS. DEWEY SCARBORO

Special to The Bee.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 13.—What kind of men make the best husbands?

Sometimes it takes a lifetime to find out, and even then there is doubt. But there is one Georgia family that is decided. Each of its three daughters unite in the answer.

"Football players make the best husbands."

For within six months the Misses Grace, Loreta and Ruth Jackson, belles in the younger southern social circles, married three stars of the Georgia Tech football team.

Now Scarborough, Miss "Big Six" Carpenter and Mrs. "Daddy" Amis. All of them are still honeymooning. The Carpenters in Florida, the Amises in California and the Scarbors in Atlanta.

"Sure enough," says Mrs. Scarborough.

"We lived in tents and cooked on an oil stove and swam and drove and had a wonderful time. It was there we fell in love."

"Then one day Dewey called me up and said, 'Let's get married today.' I said, 'All right.' And that's all there was to it."

Meanwhile football romances No. 2 and No. 3 were making rapid headway of their own. Loreta had fallen in love with "Big Six" Carpenter, Georgia Tech star of the class of '17, and Ruth had become engaged to "Daddy" Amis, member of last year's class.

"They planned a double wedding," explains their sister, "but they couldn't agree on what kind of wedding to have. One wanted a church wedding, the other a home wedding. Finally each had her own way."

"But we're all agreed, good football players make good husbands."

INSTRUCTOR IN MEDICAL COURSE WINS MEDAL

RALEIGH, N. C., July 12—Word has just been received that Dr. B. T. C. Small, instructor for summer post-graduate medical course to begin during the week of July 16 in Winston-Salem, Greensboro, High Point, Salisbury, Concord, and Charlotte, has been awarded the silver medal for his instructional demonstration and exhibit at the meeting of the American Medical Association recently held in San Francisco.

Dr. Small, director of the University Extension Division, under whose auspices the course is being given, received the notification of the award at Chapel Hill last night. He stated that this is the second highest honor given at the annual meeting of the association.

Dr. Terry's exhibition also received the first prize at the meeting of the North Carolina Medical Society in Asheville recently.

The time and place of the first meetings of the course are as follows: Winston-Salem, Monday, July 16, 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. High Point, Tuesday, July 17, private dining room, Sheraton Hotel, 8 p. m. Salisbury, Wednesday, July 18, county court room, 2 p. m. Concord, Thursday, July 19, Merchants Club, Cannon Building, 2:30 p. m. Charlotte, Friday, July 20, Library Room, Jefferson Building, 4 p. m.

PROGRAM FOR SWIMMING MEET

The events listed for the swimming meet to be staged today at 3 p. m. by the juniors and younger employed boys are as follows:

1. 50 yard dash.
2. 100 yard dash.
3. 200 yard swim on back.
4. 50 yard dash.
5. 40 yard dash.
6. 40 yard swim for distance.
7. 100 yard swim for distance.
8. Relay.

Since there is limited room for spectators and in view of the fact that the men have the privilege of visiting the pool at any time the invitation is extended only to ladies, especially to the mothers of the boys participating. These are urged to attend in order to see how much enjoyment and benefit the boys are receiving.

WILLIAM H. HUGHES

The funeral of William Henry Hughes, 87, who died Wednesday evening at General Hospital, was held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Moon Creek Baptist Church. Interment was made in the church cemetery. The pallbearers followed:

THE WOMAN POWER OF AMERICA

As well illustrated by the thousands of women who are entering every profession, almost every line of business and politics as well. They are bound to make good, and there is no question but what health is their greatest asset. Many women, however, develop nervous conditions and cannot stand the strain of a professional or business life. Such women should remember when beset with headaches, backaches, nervousness, irritability or any ailment peculiar to their sex that the greatest of all remedies for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nearly fifty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength. It holds the remarkable record of helping 25 out of every 100 women who try it—adv.

BALDWIN WORKS IN COOPERATION WITH THE U. S.

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

PARIS, July 12—Prime Minister Baldwin has been working in the closest cooperation with the American embassy in London in preparing the British policy on the Ruhr and reparations. It was learned authoritatively today.

The knowledge that the state department has kept fully informed of the British decisions disquieted the French who feel that this action is a sure indication of Washington's entire sympathy with Downing street.

On the eve of Mr. Baldwin's declaration at Parliament, the French foreign office again issues a warning that France will not accept the vesting of the power of again fixing the amount of reparations in the hands of some international neutral committee.

The reparations commission was legally created by the Versailles treaty to handle the problem and this cannot be transferred elsewhere without violating the treaty," said M. Poincaré's spokesman.

The French point out that the smashing of the German and individual debtors with Germany regarding reparations probably would mean the collapse of the League of Nations as the league's duties are based on an assumption of solidarity.

STRIKERS DENIED A NEW TRIAL

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 12—Ten members of a railroad shop craft's union who went on strike July 1, 1922, and who shortly afterward were found guilty of violating a temporary injunction denying their strike activity, were denied a jury trial under the Clayton act today by the United States circuit court of appeals.

The court held that the men were not engaged in a lawful strike and that their acts relative to the railroad company therefore were the same as those of strangers and the men were not qualified to demand a jury trial.

ACTION AGAINST DESERTER WILL CAUSE FEELING

By THOMAS RYAN

SOUTHAMPTON, July 12.—The action against the alleged British deserters on the Levathan caused bitterness between the United States lines and the American officials on one hand and the British steamship lines on the other.

All day policemen searched the Levathan for the twenty two men charged with desertion from a Cunard liner in New York. The police went through the list of the ship's crew, but although the English papers announced that the Levathan carried 200 culprits only three suspected names were found on the list. Summonses were served on these three men and they must appear tomorrow at the Southampton police court or be committed for contempt of court in which case they are subject to arrest.

The men are J. Courtney, formerly of the Aquitania, S. C. Barnes, formerly of the Berengaria and J. Molire, formerly of the Berengaria, all in the catering department. The police say the case against Molire is doubtful.

The maximum penalty provided for act is a $20 fine or six months in jail. Following energetic action by the American officials it was decided to call the men to court tomorrow and then to adjourn the cases until Monday—after the amicable celebrations aboard the Levathan tomorrow which Cunard Line officials will attend.

The Cunard Line supplied two new names today for which summonses were issued. Again due to American pressure, these summonses will be returnable on Monday thus obviating any increased bitterness during the celebrations.

The White Star Line, it is reported, will follow the Cunards lead by demanding more summonses. One captain has protested against the allegations of an anti-American paper in London. He said this paper tried to discourage passengers from taking the Levathan from Southampton by declaring that she could not sail on the appointed day.

NEW BUILDING IS DEDICATED

(By The Associated Press.)

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C., July 12.—With the dedication of the new educational building by Dr. John W. Shackford, secretary of the Sunday School Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, the Junaluska training school of the denomination opened here tonight. Three terms of two weeks each will be held.

The school which opened tonight inaugurated regular course for which college credits will be awarded. The present school is the outgrowth of a movement which began seven years ago here and has spread so that now the Southern Methodist Episcopal Church has 200 training schools held every summer throughout the territory of the church in the south. Institutions which began to be pointed to an attendance of 800 for the three terms of the schools here.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

The market has developed into a typical mid-summer affair and with the falling off in transactions has come a moderate recession in prices. There was a slight recovery in importance other than the announcement of a cut of seven cents in the price of gasoline in the middle west.

The Iron Age in its weekly review states that there is evidence of smaller steel production and continued decline in the price of pig iron and a better supply of common labor. Orders have fallen off and new buying shows more marked effects of mid-summer curbing. The outlook is for smaller production of pig iron and iron ingots in July than in June. Price of finished steel is holding well, but buyers are closely watching the new relation of capacity and consumption.

C. C. GLOVER SERIOUSLY ILL

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Charles Carroll Glover, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Riggs National Bank and leading financier in the nation's capital, has been seriously ill at his summer home at York Harbor, Me., according to word received today by officials of the bank.

Mr. Glover, 75, President of the bank, was informed by telephone this morning that Mr. Glover's condition, which was highly critical on July 3, is better, that he is not now in immediate danger and that an operation for gallstones may be avoided. Mr. Glover is 75 years old.

—Mrs. William Stever and daughter of Richmond are visiting Mrs. N. F. Pollok, Jefferson avenue.

helps to bring out the real beauty of the skin

Cosmetics only hide skin trouble, but Resinol Ointment, aided by Resinol Soap in most cases, clears away blotches, roughness, and similar defects, keeping the skin soft and smooth, with the natural color of health.

Give the Resinol products a trial. For sale by all druggists.

Alkali in Soap Bad for Washing Hair

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is penetrative and treats everything the scalp is ailed with. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

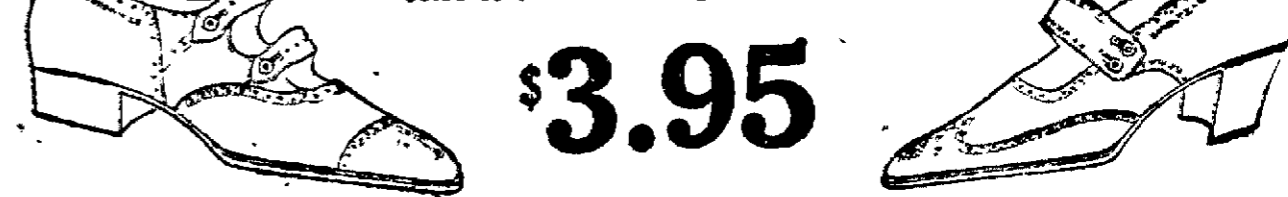

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily.

The hair dries quickly and evenly, and looks bright, fluffy, and wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Dr. To 'Canonize' Anderson If Theft Charge Is Proved

Dr. Burrell Tells Banton Conviction Will Multiply Influence of the League

NEW YORK, July 12.—Even if all directors of the Anti-Saloon League of New York are convinced that Superintendent William H. Anderson, has done no crime, the fact remains they may be mistaken, and it is within the functions of the District Attorney to find it out and to bring the offender to justice.

So District Attorney Banton replied last night to a letter from the Rev. Dr. David J. Burrell, pastor of the Marble Collegiate church and president of the league, who expressed himself as amazed that the prosecution of Anderson should continue.

"I don't know whether the director of the league are so trustful of Anderson," said Mr. Banton. "However, I myself am not, and you may be sure this grand jury proceeding would not have been brought in hadn't been sure it was necessary. I must rely on my own opinion of whether a crime has been committed, and not on the opinion of others."

We sent courteous letter to Dr. Burrell asking him if he would testify before the grand jury. In the first few sentences of his reply he says, his health is such that he cannot make the effort. Then he goes on for five pages of real physical effort to argue something he knows nothing about. Dr. Burrell extolled Anderson in his letter, and prophesies that if indictments for forgery, grand larceny and extortion are returned against him, as the district attorney expects, and if he is convicted and sent to Sing Sing, it will canonize him. Not only will Anderson be made a saint, but also "the influence of the Anti-Saloon League will be multiplied tenfold."

Addressing himself Ferdinand Pecora, Assistant District Attorney, Dr. Burrell wrote that he has reason to believe your chief a Christian gentleman, yourself of Christian affiliations and beliefs. It passes understanding how you should lend yourselves to the prosecution of a man who has indicated not only the uprightness of his personal character, but also the most trying circumstances and in the grimacing face of the world and the flesh and the devil, but also the tremendous power of his unswerving, indomitable and successful zeal in the interest of law and order.

"There is one cause of offense on the part of Mr. Anderson, that he was instrumental in putting the State on the prohibition map. This is the head and front of his offending. For this the State naturally hate him, but there never was a man used in front of the prohibition forces than right now. For every deserter there are two new recruits."

LOCAL SCHOLARSHIP.

Miss Penelope Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Morgan formerly of this city, has been awarded a scholarship for a summer course at Peabody College, Nashville, as one of fifteen winners of a health education contest conducted by the American Child Health Association, a national organization working to improve methods of health training for children throughout the country under the presidency of Herbert Hoover.

The successful contestants were chosen from among more than 500 applicants representing forty-six States, on the basis of the success of the methods they have worked out in their own classrooms.

Miss Morgan, who is a graduate of the Harrisonburg, Va., State Normal school, has been reaching home economics at Averett College.

Good Morning Judge!

The docket in the police court this morning was a brief one, the session being over within fifteen minutes. Only a few trivial cases were disposed of.

Howard Weeks and Troy Henley were arranged for playing ball in the street. They said they were just "catching a little bit" and meant no harm. The warrants were dismissed with payment of costs, which was $1.50 each.

A warrant against Robert Gaston, colored, for creating a disturbance was dismissed.

T. G. Burgess' case was set for Tuesday. He is charged by Charles Staples, colored, with an alleged assault. Ollie McCadden fined $21 and costs for speeding.

L. A. Lockwood, speeding dismissed. Thelma Harvey, Lula Harvey and Ida Richardson, colored charged with creating a disturbance were not present to answer the cases.

Two Fugitives Arrested Here

Ed McCullough, who escaped from the Alamance county road gang several days ago, was captured yesterday near the city by Police Detectives J. N. Campbell and J. C. Lewis. McCullough had been slightly wounded by a bullet when he made his break for liberty, which proved only to be temporary. McCullough was serving out a term of one year together with Percy Adkins and J. W. Walker, all of Danville, in a chain gang.

McCullough is being held in jail pending the arrival of authorities from North Carolina. He was arrested with three other men last April by Police Sergeant J. H. Martin and officers Price, Dameron and I. H. Harris, following a thrilling chase which started here and ended in Pelham by way of Gatewood's store. A number of hot water bottles of liquor were in the car and as the machines fled over the country roads, the occupants threw the bags of liquor out. Several were recovered later by the officers as evidence. The machine was a number 101, a 1920 model. The men arranged before a magistrate there who banded them for their appearance in the Yanceyville court. All appeared for trial except Tom Brown, who has not been seen since. The other three were sentenced to serve twelve months on the road. The details of McCullough's escape several days ago were not learned. It was stated, however, that the guard made an effort to prevent his escaping by shooting him with buckshot, the man being only peppered with shot.

Alvin Walker, a brother of J. W. Walker, also serving a term on a highway charge in North Carolina, also made his escape recently. Walker has made several bold bids for liberty from time to time and is said to have been shot a number of times but at no time seriously.

(Special to The Bee.) RICHMOND, Va., July 13.—In reply to the assertion of George P. Coleman, president of the Virginia Good Roads association, that the borrowing of $50,000 for a highway construction eventually will reduce the pay-as-you-go Good Roads association in a statement issued yesterday, says Mr. Coleman's proposition is an absurdity.

U. S. Peace Body Accepts Clause

Enables Turkey to Impose Customs Duties on Supplies Imported by Organizations.

By VINCENT SHEEHAN.

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

LAUSANNE, July 13.—The American peace delegation last night accepted the clause of the new Turkish-American treaty which enables Turkey to impose ordinary customs duties of ten to fifty per cent. on all supplies imported by the Near East relief, the Y. M. C. A. or other American organizations.

The clause reads that all foreign religious and charitable organizations will be subject to ordinary Turkish laws.

The Turkish delegation openly admits that the purpose of this clause is to drive out all American charitable organizations from Turkey by charging them high duties, except the American Red Cross, which seems to stand in high favor.

The Turkish delegation offered a clause saying that the American organization which must pay ordinary customs duties, but the American delegation said this was too raw. The effect of the two clauses is the same. But the actual clause is more polite.

The only hope of American organizations to escape customs duties now is to make private trade agreements with the Turks.

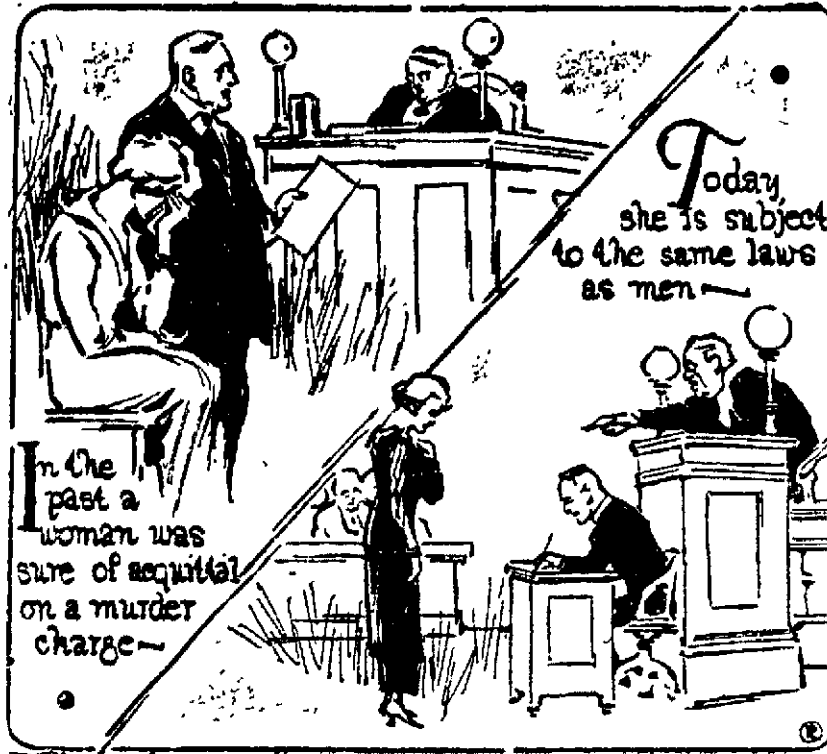

A large section of the Chester concessions are rendered practically worthless by the Allied "protection" concessions which will be annexed to the peace treaty and which will be signed next week at the same time as the treaty and the convention covering the Dardanelles.

This annex takes up twenty pages of detailed provisions regarding Turkish recompense for pre-war concessions. The annex in principle was negotiated at Lausanne in the presence of the American delegation, but the provisions in detail resulted from private conversations carried on in Ankara between Rauf Pasha and French and British concessionaires.

In principle Turkey recognizes the validity of the pre-war concessions and in this discussion the American delegation followed every detail of the conversation.

By the provisions of the annex.

Two Women May Pay Full Penalty For Feminine Demand of Equal Rights

EQUAL RIGHTS AND EQUAL JUSTICE

Women have, and have a right to have, equal rights with men. Should women, then, in your opinion, be regarded no different than men even when it comes to dispensing punishment for crime?

Should she be executed for murder? Or aren't women inherently finer than men and don't they deserve the unequal protection they've always received, disregarding entirely their plea for equality no matter how it strikes them?

Two states, Illinois and New York, now face the task of executing women. Will they do it? Should they do it? What have you to say?

(Special to The Bee.)

CHICAGO, July 13.—The feminine movement has given women equal rights.

But it has also made them equally responsible for their wrongs. Such is the interpretation placed upon the action of New York and Chicago juries and judges in sentencing two women to death.

A jury of men in New York reached a verdict condemning Mrs. Anna Buzzi to the electric chair. A jury of men here convicted Mrs. Sabila Natti Crudelle of first degree murder—with hanging as the penalty.

Five years ago this would be an unheard of proceeding. Society's erring daughter was wont in other days to weep—and be freed of murder charges by juries of men.

The jurors' chivalry was appealed to and they were swayed by the inbred tradition that woman needed protection, not punishment.

Old Sir Walter Raleigh chivalry, which once elevated the fair sex to a pedestal high above the male, seems to be as passe as the older belief that women are inferior. And women themselves are held responsible for the change, say psychologists.

They Are Passing.

Demand for equal rights in politics was followed by more women entering political, industrial and business life. Here, in the struggle for their livelihood, men found themselves in competition with women—and in self-protection, they had to begin considering women on a plane of strict equality—as competitors.

This sentiment has unconsciously spread until even the courtesies man was wont to show to woman in the latter Victorian days have almost disappeared. Once men eagerly arose to give street car seats to women. Now the woman gets a seat if one is vacant.

Once men doffed their hats in elevators when women entered. In some buildings now, there even is a ruling against this.

Concealment, too, seems to be the exaggerated gallantry that entirely absolved her or at least mitigated punishment when she broke the law.

Feminine Power.

If woman kills, she also must die, decrees statutes in every state where capital punishment is in force. But these edicts—ever applied to man—rarely have guided either verdict or sentence in a woman's case.

"Women are more clever than men in arousing sympathy," declares Florence E. Allen of the Ohio Supreme Court, first woman criminal judge in America. She presided over many murder trials.

"Juries instinctively shrink from holding women accountable for their misdeeds. Usually, too, it is only circumstantial evidence that winds itself around a woman slaver."

Mrs. Buzzi, convicted of the murder of her common-law husband, Frederick Schneider, is the first woman to be given the extreme penalty.

Women To Take Important Part In G. O. P. Drive

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

CHICAGO, July 13.—Women are destined to play a more important part in the Republican presidential campaign next year than ever before, according to National Chairman John T. Adams, here for a series of conferences.

Women were much in evidence at the Drake Hotel today, where Chairman Adams is meeting various groups. Among them were Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, of Warren, Ohio, vice chairman of the Republican National organization; Mrs. Louise M. Dodson, of Des Moines, Ia., and Mrs. Len O. Hooker, of St. Louis. The two latter have just received their appointments as associate members of the national committee for their states. Mrs. Bina M. West, of Port Huron, Mich., and Mrs. R. R. Burton, of Independence, Kansas, recently appointed national committeewomen. Illinois, Nebraska and Oklahoma have not yet appointed their women members of the national committee.

Jacob L. Babler, national committeeman from Missouri, announced that Chicago can have the 1924 convention, if National Treasurer Fred D. Upham says the city wants it.

Chairman Adams said there is no question of the renomination of President Harding. The keynote of the campaign will be the national prosperity, for which the Harding administration claims some credit.

Asked if the Republicans were looking for a third party movement, Chairman Adams said:

"We don't expect anything of the kind. Everybody in the country is prosperous except the farmer and that is a condition we would like to relieve, but it seems a situation that the farmers themselves must solve."

"There is no political significance to these meetings," he continued. "We want the republican national campaign well under way in January and are now starting with these get-together meetings so the state organizations can commence to function."

Similar meetings have been held in the east and another is to take place in the far west.

Commits Suicide In His Basement

(Special to The Bee.)

RICHMOND, Va., July 13.—Anah C. Kessler, 47, a partner of the Kessler-Sutton Hardware company, 1208 East Main street, was found dead yesterday at 5:30 o'clock in the basement of his home at 2200 Second avenue, Highland Park, with his head hanging over a drain pipe with several slashes in his throat. The body was discovered by his wife, who missing him from his bedroom, went in search of him. Coroner Whitfield pronounced the man's death due to suicide. A bloody razor was found beside the body.

Members of the family say Mr. Kessler had been ill for months and that he had not slept for almost a week.

Mr. Kessler was for many years vice president of the Spoils company and went into partnership with Sutton, who says they were conducting a successful business.

Jury Headed by Woman Asks Death for Youths

CAMDEN, N. J., July 12.—A jury with a woman foreman, tonight found Manfredo Grasso, 15, and Tony Bagdonowicz, 23, guilty of first degree murder and recommended that both be electrocuted.

The two youths, whose homes are in Brooklyn, were convicted of the shooting of William H. Bishop, a Camden taxicab driver, on the night of April 13. One of the quartet of bandits implicated in the affair turned State's evidence and accused young Grasso of committing the murder.

Sentence will be pronounced July 23.

A Small Decrease Shown In State's Peanut Acreage

(Special to The Bee.)

RICHMOND, Va., July 13.—The Virginia peanut acreage is 129,000 acres, or 1 per cent. less than last year, according to the Virginia Crop Reporting Service. The large cotton-producing counties report a decrease in the peanut crop as many grovers have increased their cotton fields and decreased the land in peanuts. In the non-cotton producing counties there has been an increase in the peanut acreage.

The crop is somewhat late, but the stand is good and fields are well cultivated and free from grass. The condition on July 1 was 90 per cent. normal, compared with 72 per cent. last year and 85 the 10-year average. Although it is rather early to make a definite estimate of production, average weather conditions until harvest will give a crop of approximately 121,905,000 pounds, which compares with 73,000,000 pounds last year and 129,400,000 pounds in 1920.

The Industrial Girls club and the Business Girls club of the Y. W. C. A. will have a joint supper this evening at Ballou park, at which time a report on the Junaluska conference will be presented.

Denies Report As To Severe Dealing With N. C. Autoists

An erroneous belief that the authorities of Schoolfield and Stokesland are dealing severely with North Carolina people who pass through these communities with cars bearing license numbers which became obsolete on May 31st has been circulated according to reports reaching here this morning.

Farmers of North Carolina were said to be complaining over the alleged fact that they are being detained by Virginia officers who find them operating their cars on old tags and that they are fined. Magistrate R. S. Fitts was questioned about the matter this morning and he denied emphatically that he had adopted any such course. He said that it was the duty of the officers to enforce the state law and that it was true that several motorists from North Carolina had been brought before him but that he had quickly perceived the situation and had accepted every excuse offered so far and has not imposed any fines for their offenses.

Magistrate Fitts said that he well recognized the fact that when the time comes to obtain new licenses the office of the secretary of state at Raleigh is swamped with applications and that it is impossible to meet the sudden demand. He stated also that he had been officially informed that the supply of tags had become exhausted at Raleigh and that it would be about thirty days before any could be sent out. All applicants, however, are being sent cards showing that they have performed their obligation and have applied for license and the mere showing of this card is sufficient.

One local motor dealer is reported to have found loud criticism of the practice which is today categorically denied and in some instances farmers have said that they would prefer not to come to Danville. Magistrate Fitts' candid explanation is expected to counteract a report which in some quarters has been harmful to Danville.

CONDITIONS IN COUNTRY BETTER

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Evidence of gradual restoration of commercial stability in general business and particularly in the agricultural industry as given today by the War Finance Corporation of its operations for the fiscal year ending June 30, shows the advance during the twelve months aggregated only $43,761,000 while more than $16,000,000 was repaid on loans. Repayments in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, totaled $142,000,000 and loans $279,000,000.

Managing Director Meyer declaring he was gratified that repayments of the past twelve months exceeded advances by $100,000,000, said that it shows that there is more money in the banks everywhere than there was during the year ending June 30, 1922.

During that period, Mr. Meyer continued, country bankers are financing institutions which could not obtain loans from the corporation because the greater city banks were not in a position to extend all of the credit required. The situation is reversed now. The city banks not only have money but are seeking to take loans to the country correspondents. Another feature of the past year's operation which was gratifying to the corporation director was the reduction in the number of banks and financing institutions still indebted to the corporation. Of 4,534 banks to which advances were made in 1921, only 1,400 are now in arrears. The others have not liquidated the advances, but of which are overdue at this time. Nearly all of them, according to Mr. Meyer, have made substantial payments on the sums borrowed.

MANY DROWN IN THE RHINE

DUSSELDORF, July 12.—Eighty-six Germans have been drowned in the Rhine since Saturday. All were victims of the heavy rain which reached its highest point today when the temperature registered 83.

The capacity of the bath barges is woefully inadequate and thousands are left to their lives in the swift deep water of the Rhine.

Stop that Eczema!

AMAZING results have been produced by S. S. S. in cases of eczema, pimples, blackheads and other skin eruptions. If you have been troubled with eczema, and you have used skin applications without number, make a test yourself with a bottle of S. S. S., one of the most powerful blood cleansers known. S. S. S. makes the blood rich and pure, and when your blood is free of impurities your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, blotches, and other skin troubles disappear. There are no unproven theories about S. S. S.; the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities.

S. S. S. cures all good drug stores in two weeks. The larger size is more economical.

Cash For Genius—Fund To Aid Ambitious Boys

(Special to The Bee.)

PASSAIC, N. J., July 13.—Can cash bring out genius?

Can money stimulate ambition? Julius Forstmann, wealthy philanthropist, and his wife wanted to find out. So they set aside a fund of $250,000 to assist the youth of the country "to attain to a large measure of self-realization and social usefulness."

And now they are swamped with applicants. So great has the rush become that a special office has been opened with a large corps of workers to handle the claims.

Boys who want to get an education and can't afford it, men who have a pet invention but no money to put it over, visionaries who would rearrange the world, if only they had the chance—are all striving to get their share of the fund.

Back of it all is the memory of a boy who died when he was 18. Carl Forstmann was the son of the philanthropist, a millionaire textile manufacturer here, and it is to his memory that the fund has been named the Carl Forstmann Memorial Foundation.

The fund is not an endowment with the "interest" available," says Forstmann. "It is a working capital, every last cent of which will be used. Neither will it be limited necessarily to $50,000."

I want to assist boys and young men who are hampered by financial circumstances to attain their ambitions. If they have ability and character I believe I can help.

The same urge I want to perpetuate the fund here with its purpose of assistance for intelligence, integrity and industry which would have been my son's had he been permitted to live.

Grants according to the Forstmann plan, may be either awards or loans. A committee of representative business men and a pastor has been appointed which will expend the money "education or training of any grade, degree or kind, the prosecution of useful experimentation and research, physical correction and rehabilitation, the realization of any particularly worthy ambition, which with assistance, offers a strong likelihood of success."

Rector Who Stole Kiss Resigns; Bride Tells How It Happened

BOSTON, July 12.—The Rev. George L. Paine, severely beaten Monday afternoon in his office by Lieutenant Wesley McLaren Hague, U. S. N., for kissing Mrs. Hague against her will while in a Belmont meadow, tonight tendered his resignation as executive secretary of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, at a specially called meeting of the federation's board of directors in the City Club.

As only 14 of the 12 members were in attendance it was voted that action on the resignation should be taken at a meeting of the entire board. An official statement issued at the close of the session declared those present greatly deplore the incident, and it was publicly acknowledged by Mr. Paine.

Mrs. Hague Tells Of Kisses.

Mrs. Hague, who was Miss Pricilla Alden Redgrave, of Annapolis, Md., today told her story of the minister's kiss.

"The night of the kissing incident, June 25, he came and rang the door phone," she said. Mother answered. He asked if I wanted to go to Belmont meadow. She said she would be pleased to go later on. He went away. We both wondered if he had intended to ask her to go, too.

"When he did come for us about quarter of eight he did not want to come until after 8. He tried to get me to go later on. He went away. He seemed embarrassed in talking to mother and I kept waiting for her to be invited. Finally we thought his car must be a roadster, so I went along. I was surprised to see a big, seven-passenger car.

"After we had been driving a short time, Mr. Paine made a remark which at the time, did not seem queer to me. He said: 'I am afraid you think I am a bad man.' He said that I kissed you twice after I had performed your wedding ceremony. But I really do not kiss girls."

Stopped at Lonely Spot.

Coming to a lonely spot in Belmont, she said, they got out of the car and went to the top of a nearby hill to study the view.

Mrs. Hague said.

"When we reached the top we sat down and he began talking so interestingly about birds. He tried to kiss me. He tried to kiss me. I told him to stop, but I did not want to seem disagreeable and distrustful of him, because he was so much older than I was. We kept on talking about nature and the beautiful view, and then he tried to kiss me again. He put his arms around me and tried to mug me and again asked me for a kiss. I told him that he mustn't—that he must stop, and suggested that we had better get home. But he said that we had better stay awhile longer and that he wouldn't bother me any more.

"Fought For Kiss."

"Ten minutes later he put his arm around my waist and pulled me toward him. He held me tight. I fought with all my strength. I tugged and pulled to get free, but he held me close. During the struggle he scratched my wrist on a pin I wear just over my heart—a pin my husband gave me."

"He held my arm so tight that he tore the ribbon off that was tying my sleeves together, and all this time he was trying to reach my mouth with his lips. But I fought him and told him that he mustn't."

"We struggled for about five minutes and he said, 'I would never think such a tiny person as you could be so strong. Where do you get your strength?' and I kept on fighting him and said he must stop and that we must go home."

Says He Succeeded.

He succeeded in kissing me on the cheek—although he had tried to kiss me on the lips. When he reached my cheek I finally was able to push him away and stood up.

"It was while we were sitting on the grass, talking about the beautiful view and nature, that he tickled me under the chin with a blade of grass. His statement that I tickled him is a lie. I never did, nor did I make any effort to resist."

The Rev. Mr. Paine attended the meeting of the board. He was frank in telling everything that happened in the case and after hearing his resignation, left the building. The communication tendering his resignation followed.

"To the Board of Directors of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches:

"Gentlemen and Brethren—My chief desire is to help the Greater Boston Federation of Churches at this time, and, feeling that it, and not I, should determine my fitness to continue in office, I herewith tender my resignation as executive secretary. I want it understood that this tender on my part in no wise expresses my own judgment in the matter, but is solely to free the hand of the directors of the federation."

THE REV. GEORGE L. PAINE.

The Rev. Ernest G. Guthrie, president of the federation, said he did not know when there would be a meeting of the whole board of directors.

CLOVER SCHOOL RAZED TO GROUND

CLOVER, Va., July 12.—Fire of undetermined origin today about noon first threatened this town, then a major disaster. The schoolhouse, which was unoccupied and smoke pouring from the building gave the first indication. The building was of frame and was a rapid prey. Adjacent to it was the auditorium, which was also a frame building. Both it and the high school being totally destroyed.

Heroic work by the citizens of Clover was aided by a shift of wind, which came up at the exact moment to save adjoining structures. The Baptist Church and J. M. Mast and Company were saved through their destruction seemed certain. But for the timely shifting of the wind the school store, and Gibson & Co. drug store, and the school building would have been destroyed. The loss is placed at $10,000 partially covered by insurance.

The people of Clover have worked hard to build up this school which was placed on a list of accredited high school last fall.

REPARATIONS DRAFT TO BE SUBMITTED SOON

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 12.—The government's draft of its responsibility to Germany on reparations, it was stated late tonight, will be submitted to the allies next week, probably before the end of the month. The British view favoring submission of the question of Germany's capacity to pay to an impartial tribunal, provided such tribunal can be formed of a sufficiently high standing to command confidence.

LEE MAY ADDRESS TRAINMEN.

(Special to The Bee.)

RICHMOND, Va., July 13.—William Granville Lee, national president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, will, in the opinion of physicians, be able to attend and address the convention of the Virginia locals' auxiliaries which will be held in Richmond on September 7, 8 and 9. It was announced at a meeting of the committee on arrangements today.

Late News Bulletins

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Important changes in the Senate Committee leadership will result from the death of Senator Dillingham. He was named to become chairman of the judiciary committee on re-organization of the Senate in December as he was next ranking member of the late Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, who was chairman at the time of his death.

Senator Brandegee, Republican, Conn., now is in line for that chairmanship. Senator Dillingham was one of the veteran Republican stalwarts and has served in many capacities especially in the legal work and was acknowledged an expert on immigration.

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 13.—Fred Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, is in Europe, but his office today gave out a statement that if Chicago wants the convention, Mr. Upham will ask for it, but it is up to the city and not to Mr. Upham.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Director Hines' personal survey of the tuberculosis institution at Otton, N. C., near Asheville, disclosed, he said today, that certain changes will have to be made of the temporary buildings to bring the institution up to standard. The Otton hospital cares for 800 patients, the largest number of this class in any veterans bureau hospital.

MAKING A SURVEY OF THE COUNTRY

(Special to The Bee.)

RICHMOND, Va., July 12.—For the purpose of ascertaining and tabulating for possible use all the resources of the country which could be depended upon in the event of war, the Ordnance Department of the U. S. A. is making a survey of the country. The present time Richmond and vicinity, which are in the district composed of Virginia, Maryland, North and South Carolina and the District of Columbia, with headquarters in Richmond, are being investigated. The time of the survey of the country during the world war, it is said, will be an important factor in the present survey, which will be based on the present survey.

Richmond's industrial advantages and the quality of the raw products found in the vicinity brought this city to the attention of the country during the world war, it is said, and will be an important factor in the present survey, which will be based on the present survey.

See Development Of Farming In Alaska Coming

(By The Associated Press)

ON U. S. S. HENDERSON, July 13.—Secretary of Agriculture, Wallace, after consultation with agents of the department and other experts interested in the agricultural development of Alaska announced today his conviction that the future will see great development of farming in the territory but that the country will never produce crops beyond Alaska's needs. Mr. Wallace made a statement to this effect in a conference with newspaper men on the Henderson accompanying President Harding on a tour of Alaska, on the voyage from Skagway to Seward where the party is to land today to travel to Fairbanks over the Alaska Railway.

BELIEVED MISS CRUMP HAD FIFTY MONEY

RICHMOND, Va., July 13.—Rev. Father Narcisse P. Denis, former priest who is on trial in Hastings Court on the charge of forgery, placed his defense yesterday in his belief that Miss Veronica Crump, associated with him in the enterprise of establishing a charitable institution near Richmond, has plenty of money of his own and that he was entirely ignorant that her "fortune" was a myth.

Father Denis testified that during the whole time that he had known the young woman, now held in an insane hospital, did she ever let it become known that there was no money to her credit in the New York bank. She always told the priest, he said today, that she had "the money was there."

Under a severe fire of questions by the State prosecutor, Father Denis testified that whatever he did and whatever he believed, from the time that he went to live at the East Cary street address until the time he was arrested, he believed in the girl and stated that he did not expect anything from her, although Commonwealth's Attorney Satterfield asked him again and again if he did not receive money under the will which Miss Crump made.

Timely Household Suggestions

THE REFRIGERATOR.

The Refrigerator is at this time of the year the greatest friend of the housewife, and you should be a friend of the refrigerator, to get the best results. No refrigerator can give good service unless kept clean, this includes the ice chamber and drain pipes, in fact the ice chamber should come first, as the impurities of the ice chamber are carried into all parts of the refrigerator.

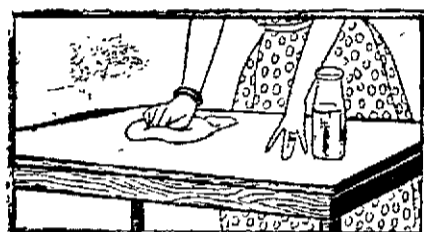

No foods should be kept in the ice chamber, especially raw meats. Examine your refrigerator carefully.

notice the location of the cold and hot air vent, and when you realize that only melting ice can give refrigeration, you have learned the most important part about your refrigerator.

Do not try to save ice if you expect to save food and keep it in perfect condition. Do not wrap the ice in paper and do not use paper or any other covering to protect the shelves in the various compartments, as there must be sufficient room for the cold air to make a complete circuit from the ice chamber through all compartments and return.

By following a few simple rules with the ordinary refrigerator you can safely keep butter and raw fish on the same shelf without contamination. In order to do this you must observe the flow of air, placing the raw meats nearest the hot air vent, in order that the odors will go directly to the ice chamber and not into other parts of the refrigerator.

OIL CLOTH COVERS.
Don't scrub your oil cloth covers with hot water and soap suds, but wipe them off with skim milk and they will look new for a long time.

SETTING TABLE.
When setting your table lay all flat silver in the order of its use, starting with the piece farthest from the plate on either side.

WASHING JEWELRY.
To clean ordinary jewelry wash it in neutral soap suds with a soft brush, then dip in alcohol and rub with soft tissue paper or with chamomile.

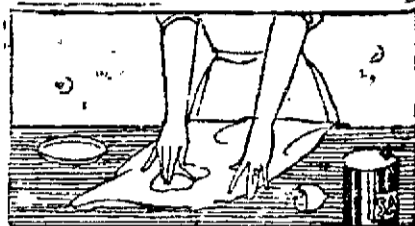

FLOOR COVERINGS.
In a small room use floor coverings of plain tone or with very small figures.

ICED TEA SWEETENING.
A sirup of granulated sugar and water will sweeten your iced tea more economically than just plain sugar.

CLEANING CLOTH.
A clean piece of old black cotton stocking is excellent for applying a cleaning fluid to dark materials, or for sponging dark wool fabrics.

RUST STAINS.

You can remove rust stains from white goods by applications of lemon juice and salt. After each application, place the material in the sunlight until dry.

WAXED FLOOR.

A waxed floor can be kept in good condition by sweeping it with a brush with hair bristles and dusting it with a mop. This gives a soft luster, possible by no other treatment.

GRASS STAINS.

To remove grass stains from flannels, take equal parts of yolk of egg and glycerin, apply to the stains and let remain for two hours. Then wash the flannels in the usual way.

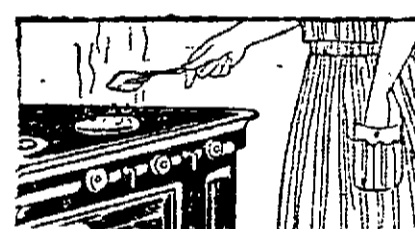

DAMPENING CLOTHES.
Hot water dampens your clothes more evenly than cold when you sprinkle them preparatory to ironing them.

MOTH PREVENTION.
Pour a little turpentine in the corners of your closet and your bureau drawers and trunks if you wish to keep the moths away.

GREASE SPOTS.
Grease spots may be removed from wall paper by covering the spot with clean white blotting paper and rubbing over with a hot iron until the grease is absorbed. As soon as the blotting paper is soiled it should be replaced by a new one.

CURTAINS.
Always pull a thread and cut by that when you are making curtains. Then they will always hang "true."

LEMONADE.
Heat your lemons before squeezing them for lemonade. You will be able to get all the juice that way.

FARM and GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

SAVE 40 CENTS A DAY BY FEEDING KID COW'S MILK.

HERDS of goats are springing up over the country almost overnight, especially around good sized cities, where the milk is in great demand for the feeding of patients in hospitals and sanitariums. Goat milk is in such demand, selling usually at 75 cents a quart, that many breeders take the kids away from the does soon after they are born and feed them cow's milk. The average kid, if allowed to nurse, would easily consume 50 cents worth of milk every day.

If cow's milk is used, the cost of raising the kid is greatly reduced, effecting a saving of about 40 cents a day. Money is made in selling goat's milk and buying cow's milk for the kids. Beginners sometimes make the mistake of taking the kid away from the doe soon after it is born. It is essential for the kid to stay with the doe for two or three days, in order to get a good start by drinking the colostrum, or first milk.

Skimmed cow's milk may be used, but the change from whole milk to skim must be gradual. Feed the kids by hand three times a day at first. Give them as much as they will drink. About a pound at a feed, or three pounds a day, for the first six weeks will be needed. Always warm the milk to about 90 degrees Fahrenheit. With plenty of good, fresh alfalfa or clover hay, grain, and pasture they may be safely weaned when 16 to 20 weeks old.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF HEALTH STATISTICS

While Danville makes a comparatively good showing in the charting of its accomplishments to promote good health some valuable lessons are to be gleaned by a careful analysis of the figures. In the elaborate scoring system undertaken at the behest of the state board of health Danville is listed with 77.25 points out of a possible perfect score of 100.

Of special significance is that section of the chart that is devoted to rating the community's fight against typhoid. This is a paramount question with one case of the disease already on record here and with a typhoid scare which thoroughly alarmed the people of this community a few years ago. Danville makes its worst showing on this phase of community health appraisal. The chart gives a possible ten points for typhoid sanitary facilities and opposite that figure appears to cipher "0" which is rather startling proof that Danville needs to do something in this direction. It is yet too early to say if the sewer extension system will be carried out. It all depends on the court's ruling on a legal construction of the language of the city charter providing for bond elections. Should it develop that the bond issue was invalid some immediate step should be taken to reduce the danger of typhoid contagion which is raised by the fact that 500 residences in this city are unserved. Some disposal service at least should be put into effect which would have a tendency to eliminate in part this danger which is constantly emphasized by city officials whose duty it is to protect the community against disease.

YOUTH WILL BE SERVED.

Years of ring experience counted or nothing last night at Boyles thirty acres where a record crowd of fight fans watched Jess Willard in his game effort to "come back." The giant pugilist taller, heavier, with longer reach and a better knowledge of the science of fighting was no match to the irresistible Argentinian Luis Firpo who climbed another rung on the ladder of pugilistic fame. It is the old story of youth triumphing over age. Willard with all of that sagacity earned in a long career in the squared circle did not have the stamina or the recuperative ability that was shown by his opponent. The result of the fight just goes to show that appearances are after all deceptive and in this instance the "man mountain" who wore the championship crown until Dempsey took it from him, despite his formidable appearance was nothing but a ruffled shill. The unseen hand of time was the vital factor in the fight.

SHANTY DAYS

Boys don't seem to be building shanties as much as they used to. And they're making a lot for the boyhood shanty home is one of the most delightful spots in the memory of the man whose hair is white or beginning to turn gray at the ears. The old-time shanty, however, was our first big expression of the boy's instinct. It taught us to build with our hands. It necessitated teamwork that instilled into us a sense of business organization. The community spirit was developed during the construction of the shanty and its management after completion. The shanty was an expression of a certain pride of American life. It dated from pioneer days when lads built small huts out of poles, in imitation of their father's log cabins. Later on, when scarce and expensive wood was a thing of the past, shanty building was put up with a shanty that lads of 10 or more years ago would have considered a respectable piece of work.

The decided changes that are taking place in our civilization are most strikingly illustrated in the changed pastimes of youth. The shanty is not the only institution that is passing. That charming boyhood highway, the alley, is passing gradually, a victim of congestion and high real estate values. And the alley, where it still survives in the modern city, usually is only a ghastly ghost of the old-time alleys overgrown with weeds, canyon-ed by high board fences and littered with old iron and bones for the junkman. The movie serial has taken the place of Nick Carter, and machine-made cigars have displaced grapevine leaves and "Indian cigars." The old order changes. Youth concentrates on radio. It forecasts a coming generation of highly developed scientific powers, but at a fearful loss in boyhood enjoyments and pastimes.

RUNNING A NEWSPAPER.

(Roanoke Times.)

The newspaper man who tries to run his paper in accordance with every suggestion from the outside is headed for failure. It simply can't be done. Nor should it be done. By the nature of the business a newspaper can't hope to please everyone. There are times when it is absolutely necessary in fulfillment of its primary function, which is to print all the news without fear or favor, for a newspaper to publish items despite the most strenuous requests for them to be withheld. Likewise, there are times when a newspaper must turn down requests to publish items which, apparently harmless enough are pressed upon it by persons with an axe to grind.

Every newspaper worthy of the name must have sufficient backbone to say "No" when occasion requires. In the long run the public has infinitely more respect for the newspaper with real character than for the one which blows both hot and cold and tries with indifferent success to run with the hare and follow with the hounds.

Readers vary in their tastes and interests. There is the man who doesn't like sports and who thinks it is a terrible mistake to waste so much space in minute accounts of baseball games, prizefights, golf and tennis tournaments and the like. He can't for the life of him understand why an intelligent management will permit such a waste of space that might be given over to accounts of Sunday school conventions, church conferences, ministerial addresses and similar matters which he is interested in.

Concerning this thing of getting out enough news that shall be acceptable in the eyes of the community in which it circulates and on the patronage of which it is dependent for a livelihood, the Charlotte Observer recently made the following sapient remarks:

"Almost any man who has acted in an executive capacity in the editorial and news departments of a real newspaper for a number of years knows that there is no class of legitimate news that is going to please or interest all readers and that, on the other hand, there is no particular class of legitimate news that will cause the displeasure of all. It is a matter of degree, without dispute, to some class of readers, with attendant loss of popularity and circulation.

So that while the conscientious editor is glad always to hear from his readers and have them express their likes and dislikes, in order that he may use the composite suggestions as a guide so far as practicable, he must remember always that the readers of a general newspaper constitute a body of many men and women of many minds and tastes, and that to please all and interest all and hold the patronage of all is an impossible task. No editor thinks for a moment that every department in the paper is going to interest all readers nor that any one story or item of news is going to please all, no more than all the articles of food listed on a menu card will appeal to all the patrons. As the menu is made up to please many persons of different tastes, so is a newspaper made to please and appeal to many persons of different minds and opinions and habits, and to widely varying interests. It is not expected that any one person will find interest in reading everything in the paper, or even take the time to read it all, and more than any one person is going to buy and eat every article of food listed on a menu card.

But, as a cold blooded business proposition, if an editor is inspired by no higher motive than is in winning and trying always to make the "big" paper that will please most the greatest number of readers, and in many instances that which is of no interest to one or to a thousand is of interest to ten thousand others. Some managing editors are little interested in sports and find little interest in the market reports, and yet they print pages of both because so many of their readers are interested in these reports. Some editors would prefer to leave out all stories of crime, as a matter of course, and choose, and yet they carry such stories, sometimes on the front pages, because they know that thousands of their readers do want this class of news as well as other classes.

The newspaper that truly performs its legitimate mission in the community is that which is not only in which is faithfully and accurately depicted life as it is—in contrast with life as it should be—in the community, in the state and in the world. If the news that is printed isn't what the reader thinks it ought to be, let him write and express his opinion. It is actually going on; if the answer be in the affirmative, there is no legitimate ground for criticism of the newspaper.

When it isn't printed, neither is it withheld from anybody. News is paid for by men early to learn, by big enough to subordinate petty personal considerations and to "play the news" strictly on its merits. There is usually an excellent reason behind the publication of every piece of news. Of course, newspapermen make mistakes—do go wrong, doctors, lawyers, engineers and every other class. Whenever any of us get to the point where we don't make mistakes, we'll be dead. And most assuredly a newspaper office is no place for a "dead end."

MORE ACTIVITY AT DOORN

THE HAGUE, July 12.—According to reports from the Hague, there are signs of renewed activity at the House of Doorn, where former Emperor William is in exile. There are constant arrivals from Germany, the latest being Prince Elie Frederick and Karl Heinrich.

Princess Hermine is often seen cycling with her two sons in the village, while the former Kaiser is having more frequent visits with his wife to members of the Dutch aristocracy residing near Doorn.

Scoop's Colyum

DRAKES BRANCH, July 13.—(Grapevine Wireless.)—Here is a choice bit of writing of E. L. McLean, entitled "My Lady of the Seasons" which shows what serious minded young men are thinking about.

She knows not her own mind, for it is like the seasons—more changeable even than they. Today it is spring—a radiant, joyous spring with all things alive and eternal. The birds sing, the trees and flowers bloom, all the earth is glad. My lady is one of laughter, light and joy. Her mind is as free of cares as the sky of clouds. She loves and is loved for it is Spring and with joy her soul sings as does the bird.

Summer comes—the heat of the sun beats down, the air is still and hot and the days are long. The earth succumbs to a stupor and my lady is one of languor. Her every move is slow and measured. Lifeless, drifting aimlessly along the fleecy clouds. The nights come cool, clear, still—nights that were never meant for sleep and my lady is restless.

'Tis autumn, the earth's at harvest, the first frost and the morning air fills one with the joy of living. Man and Nature return thanks to God and all things are at their prime. Soon the wintry blasts shall come but for the present there is festivity and plenty. Even as the leaves turn from green to crimson and silver, my lady changes from languor to life. She holds one with a tenderness that is born of passing life. The forests in their glory seem to be bare—warning her ere long all will be on the wane. So her heart and feet are dancing, for time is flying and the most must be made of it.

All things must die that others may be born. Snow covers her ground, the world is white and silent—the nights are long—the short days, gray, and my lady remains within. The snow melts, the skies weep, and the year is at its worst. 'Tis often my lady has rainy day moods—too often she weeps or becomes tired of nothing—too often her mood is out of sorts with the routine of life.

One day the spring is here, but not to stay, for the next 'tis rain within my lady's mind. For she is not as consistent as the seasons. Today she is passion, warm and living as the sun at noon—tomorrow, cold and distant as the moon and her heart like the ice of winter. But they are My Lady, those seasons, and I love them all.

First Verse.

There are roses in the garden,
And peaches on the tree
And in the early morning
A blue bird sings to me.

Second Verse.

Put the roses on the table
And 'th' peaches on my plate;
And when the Waffles come,
Just leave me to my fate.

and expect to pick up a friend of hers, Miss Dazell. If you'd like to make it a foursome for tea at Martelle's, let me know.

I was very much put out that business kept me from going on this party. To tell you the truth, Syd, I forgot all about Leslie and it seemed perfectly all right to lunch with any woman in a public and thoroughly respectable place like Martelle's, but I had reason to give obligations to my goddaughters of luck that evening when Leslie came home and told me that she and Mrs. Ellington had gone to Martelle's to tea.

While they were there, Walter Burke joined them and later who should come in, of course, but Harry and Miss Champion? They hadn't taken up Miss Dazell because I could not make one of the party.

I felt myself getting hot all over as Leslie told me this, for you see I didn't know how she would take it. I had reason to give obligations to my goddaughters of luck that evening when Leslie came home and told me that she and Mrs. Ellington had gone to Martelle's to tea.

I wonder if I will ever remember that a married man has the same responsibility in keeping himself out of the mouths of the gossips that his wife has. As it is, tonight I am promising myself to give nothing in the future to a very good little boy. It is a model young man that is writing me this letter, old chap.

In the meantime I am trying to think of just how I shall break up my friendship with Ruth Ellington and Leslie. There is something inexplicable behind those icy eyes of Ruth. She knows too much about our sex. I would not like Leslie to be so self-confident or as sophisticated as she seems to be.

Harry had a word from Paula earlier for ages I guess that book is closed.

TOMORROW—Syd's reply—A rollick and a threat.

THE RED REDMAYNES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mark Brendon, criminal investigator, is trying to solve the mystery of the disappearance of Michael, husband of Jenny Pendean. Jenny's uncle, Robert Redmayne, is missing and is suspected of murder. Jenny goes to live with her uncle, Robert Redmayne, who works for Bendigo, takes his master to the meeting place. When Doria calls to bring Bendigo home he finds an empty cave.

Jenny marries Doria and they go to live in Italy where Jenny's uncle, Albert Redmayne, lives. Robert is seen in Italy. Peter Ganna, famous American detective, assists Brendon in his investigations. Brendon meets Robert and the latter shoots at the detective.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Brendon demurred. "Remember, I'm not a stranger to him, Ganna. I saw and spoke with him by the pool in Fogintor Quarry before the murder."

"What of it? You've never spoken with him since, and what's more, you've never seen him since, either. You've seen a forgery. It was a forgery that looked at you on your way back to Dartmouth in the moonlight. It was a forgery that robbed the farm for food and lived in the cave and cut Bendigo Redmayne's throat. It was a forgery that tried to shoot you and missed."

Mr. Ganna took snuff again and continued.

"Mind," concluded Peter, who had spoken without ceasing for nearly two hours, "I'm not saying that I am right. I'm only saying that, wild though it sounds, it fits and makes a logical story even though that story beats all experience. It might have happened; and if it didn't happen, then I'm damned if I know what did, or what is happening at this moment."

Brendon delayed his answer and his face was racked with many poignant emotions.

"I can't believe it," he replied at length, in a voice which indicated the extent of his mental amazement and perturbation; "but I shall nevertheless do exactly as you direct. That is well within my power and obviously my duty."

"Good boy. And now we'll have something to eat. You've got it clear? The time is all important."

Mark scanned his notebook in which he had made voluminous entries. Then he nodded and shut it.

Suddenly Mr. Ganna laughed. The other's book reminded him of an incident.

"A funny little thing happened yesterday afternoon that I forgot," he said. "I'd turned in, leaving my notebook by my head, when there came a visitor to my room. I was asleep all right, but my heaviest sleep won't hold through the noise of a fly on the windowpane; and lying with my face to the door I heard a tiny sound and lifted one eyelid. The door opened and Signor Doria put his nose in. Over he came as quick as a spider, and I let him get within a yard. Then I yawned and shifted. He was gone like a mosquito, and half an hour later I heard him again. But I got up and he didn't do more than listen outside. He wanted that book bad—you can guess how bad."

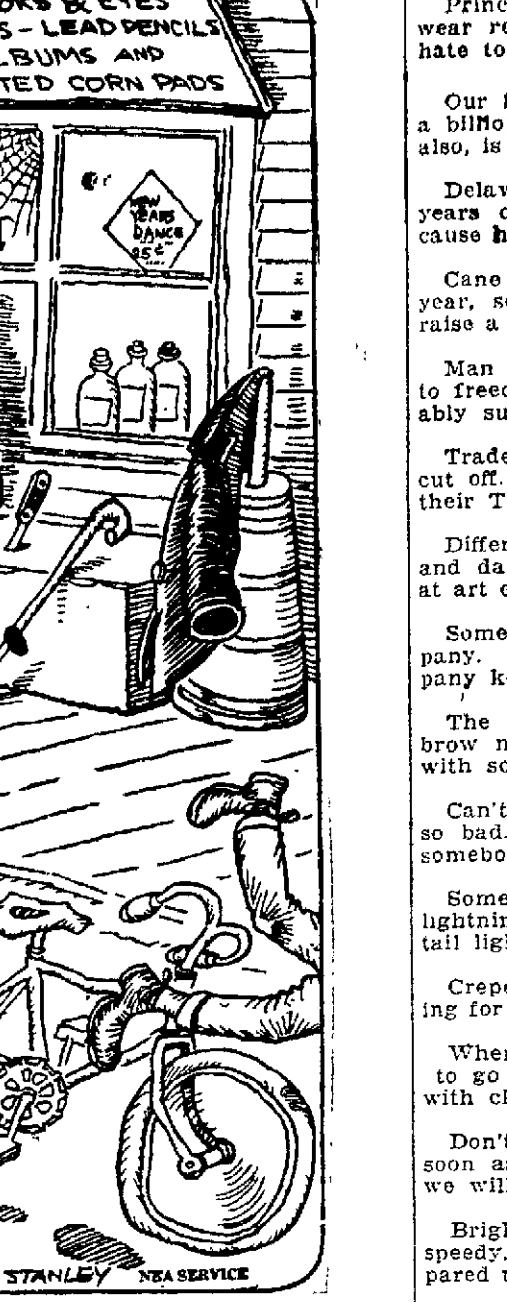

For two days Mr. Ganna declared that he must rest; and then there came an evening when he privately invited Doria to take a walk.

"There's a few things I'd like to put to you," he said. "You needn't let on to anybody else about it and we won't start together. You know my favorite stroll up the hill. Meet me at the corner—say seven o'clock."

Giuseppe gladly agreed.

They ascended the hill side by side and the elder invited Doria's aid. "Between ourselves," he began, "I was this inquiry is panning out. In plain words there's some dope com-

CHAPTER XVI

The Last of the Redmaynes

FOR the night immediately following Doria's experience at the old shrine, Albert Redmayne and his friend, Virgilio Poggi, had accepted Mark Brendon's invitation to dine at the Hotel Victoria, where he still stayed.

In order that he might enjoy private conversation with Brendon and at the same time, keep a close watch upon Albert, Ganna had proposed the dinner party at the hotel and directed Brendon to issue the invitation as soon as Redmayne returned home.

Wholly unsuspecting, Signor Poggi and Albert appeared in the glory of soft white shirt fronts and rather rusty evening black. A special meal was prepared for their pleasure and the four partook of it in a private chamber at the hotel. Then they adjourned to the smoking-room, and anon, when Poggi and his companion were deep in their all-sufficing subject, Peter, a few yards distant with Mark beside him, related the incident of Giuseppe's ghost.

"You did the trick to a miracle," he said. "You're a born actor, my son, and you came and went and got away with it just as well as mortal man could wish, and far better than I hoped. Well, Doria was fine. We stung him all right, and when he saw and thought he recognized the real Robert Redmayne, it got him in the solar plexus—I'm doggone sure that that. For just a moment he slipped, but how could he help it?"

"You see the beauty of my dilemma. If he'd been straight, he'd have gone for you; but he wasn't straight. He knew well enough that his Robert Redmayne—the forgery—wasn't on the war-path to-night; and when I said I saw nothing, he pulled him self together and swore he hadn't either. And the next second he realized what he had done! But too late. I had my hand on my shooting iron in my pocket after that. I can tell you."

Peter then indicated his purpose.

"He'll not guess we're moving quite so quickly and, by so doing, we anticipate his stroke. That, at least, is what I mean to attempt with your help, if possible. Tonight and tomorrow morning I keep beside Albert; then you must do so; because, after lunch, I have a meeting with the local police down the lake at Como. The warrant will be waiting for me and I shall return after dark in one of the little black boats of the doganieri. We shall come up with lights out and land at the villa."

"Your part will be to keep Albert in sight and watch the others."

An hour later the detectives saw Signor Poggi to his boat and then walked home with Mr. Redmayne. Peter had proffered concealed about his person and presently he explained to his friend that things were now come to a climax.

At the villa Brendon left them and Jenny welcomed her uncle. The girl begged Mark to come in for a while before returning; but it was late and Mr. Ganna declared that everybody must retire.

Mark presented himself early on the following day. It was Jenny who first saw him. Then Peter Ganna joined them.

"How is uncle?" asked Mr. Redmayne's niece, and Albert's friend declared the old book lover found himself indisposed.

Ganna then announced his intention of going later to the town of Como, and he invited Doria and Brendon to accompany him; but Mark, already familiar with the part he had to play, declined, while Giuseppe also declared himself unable to take the trip.

"I must make ready to return to Turin," he said. "The world does not stand still while Signor Pietro is catching his red man. I have business, and there is nothing to keep me here any longer."

After luncheon Mr. Ganna set off in a white waistcoat and other adornments; Giuseppe also left the villa, promising to return in a few hours; and Brendon joined Albert in his sleeping apartment.

Redmayne was dressed and lying on a couch beside the window.

"This subterfuge and simulation of ill health are most painful to me," he declared. "I am exceedingly well today and all the better for our delightful dinner of last night. For nobody less than dear Peter would ever sink to pretend anything; it is contrary to my nature and disposition so to do."

Doria returned for a while during the afternoon. He drank wine, ate fruit and addressed most of his conversation to Brendon, who spoke with him in the dining room for a while.

Jenny said nothing. Then Doria turned to her and bade her pack his clothes.

TRY TO LEARN IF BOUT CAUSES BANK'S CLOSING

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 12.—State Superintendent of Banks L. Q. Skelton, who is here investigating the closing of Stanton Trust Bank and Trust Company, and the first state bank of Shelby, was said to have devoted the entire day in an attempt to determine if George A. Stanton, president of the institution, put up $50,000 on June 15 to complete the second payment of $100,000 due Jack Dempsey on his $300,000 guarantee for his bout with Tommy Gibbons at Shelby on July 4. Mr. Skelton also was trying to find out if Stanton subscribed the money where the cash was obtained.

Stanton declined to say today whether he put up the $50,000 and if he took the money from the Stanton bank funds. All day long Stanton, Skelton and L. E. Jones, secretary of the Great Falls Commercial Club were busy issuing denials that promotion of the championship bout had anything to do with the failures. Mayor Jim Johnson of Shelby, one of the nearest losers at the Shelby fiasco, president of the Shelby institution, Jones admitted today that after Stanton was said to have put up $50,000 to make Dempsey's second payment possible many business men stopped doing business with Stanton's bank.

Jones said a good way to start a riot here now would be to announce plans for another title bout in this vicinity.

FALLON PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO BRIBE CHARGES

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 12.—William J. Fallon, prominent criminal lawyer, who has appeared as counsel in the Arnstein, Fuller, Ward and other famous cases, today strode into Federal Judge Fitzhugh's chamber in the Woolworth Building and pleaded not guilty to charges of having bribed a juror and conspired to obstruct justice.

He was held in $5,000 and given until a week from Monday to enter a demurrer or change his plea. Then from the office of his counsel, he issued a statement, declaring he had beaten the victim of a vindictive newspaper campaign and that his indictment with the juror alleged to have been bribed and five stock brokers was the result of a frame-up and "a dirty trick" involving an employee he had discharged.

The seven indictments, returned by a federal grand jury ten days ago, were made public last night. This afternoon all the defendants had been accounted for except Charles H. Clarkson, charged with use of the mails to defraud in connection with the affairs of the stock brokerage concern of Charles H. Clarkson and Company.

Assistant United States Attorney House informed Judge Fitzhugh that detectives could not locate Clarkson and that he was a fugitive from justice.

The judge thereupon, ordered a warrant issued for his arrest. James Minnaugh, another broker indicted on the same charge as Clarkson, entered a plea of not guilty and was held in $5,000 bail. C. Feeley, indicted with Clarkson and Minnaugh, will appear for pleading tomorrow; the court was informed.

Charles W. Rendigs, a cloak and suit manufacturer and the juror Fallon was alleged to have bribed in the DuSoy-Creary stock brokerage trial entered attentive plea of not guilty and was held in $5,000 bail. Rendigs, it was learned, was also a juror in the trial of Edward M. Fuller and William F. McGee, bucketeers defendants by Fallon, in the indictment against him does not involve that case which resulted in a disagreement.

BLOWING ROCK, N. C., July 12.—The people and the mountain scenery of western North Carolina and Pennsylvania are strikingly similar in the opinion of A. Mitchell Palmer, formerly Attorney General of the United States, who recently addressed the annual convention of the North Carolina Bar Association here.

Mr. Palmer, who is a native of Pennsylvania commented on this during his visit and said that many of the Moravians, Quakers and Scotch-Irish who settled in the Piedmont section of North Carolina came from Pennsylvania and pointed to similar family names abounding in both states.

The State highway system of North Carolina was another thing that came in for comment from the former United States attorney general who expressed himself as deeply impressed by the good roads he found in the mountains around Blowing Rock.

LEVIATHAN TO BE RUN "DRY"
(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
PARIS, July 12.—Albert Lasker informed the Tribune yesterday that the Leviathan would be run bone dry.

"The Shipping Board will make more money by running the vessel dry than wet because the majority of Americans are dry and they do not want to travel on a ship where there may be drinking bouts," he said.

Mr. Lasker said two rules would be strictly enforced: First, no liquor will be served aboard the ship in either direction; and second, no drinking will be permitted in public rooms. Passengers from either side can carry as many drinks aboard as they wish.

Miss Linda Raines left yesterday to visit her sister, Miss Florence Raines, of Staunton, Va.

Battle Of Giants Goes To Firpo By Knockout

Big Jess Hurtled Into Oblivion By Attack In Eighth

Witnessed by the Greatest Crowd in Ring History—Slashing Fight Has no Parallel in Fisticdom.

(By The Associated Press)

RING SIDE, July 12.—Jess Willard, the man-mountain from Kansas went back to fistic oblivion tonight but staged the last though futile act of his come-back before a throng of more than 100,000, the greatest in ring history, that filled Boyle's Thirty Acres to overflowing. Luis Angel Firpo, the dark-crown mauler from the Argentine, closed the door to Willard's attempted return to fistic fame by knocking out the giant former champion in the eighth round of a slashing battle—one of the greatest in recent heavyweight history. Incidentally he reached the goal at which he has aimed for the past year of his meteoric rise to prominence, a match for the title with Jack Dempsey.

There was no question of the superiority of the brilliant Argentine brawler tonight. Willard's superior weight, height and reach enabled the big Kansan to check Firpo's rushing attacks in most of the early rounds, but despite the American's gameness under fire, the tide of battle swung inevitably in favor of the younger, more rugged fighter.

The final round opened slowly. They sparred at long range and there was little hint that the end was near. But suddenly Firpo unleashed a savage drive to Willard's head and body. The fury of that attack had never before failed to bring down the South American's quarry and big Jess, despite his towering size and stamina, wilted. Step by step Willard gave ground, trying almost blindly to ward off the volleys of fists to his head and body. Backed up against the ropes he head sank, then a right shot to the head, sent him to his knees. He knelt as Referee Harry Lewis started counting, shaking his head and trying to lift himself up. But the waning strength in that great bulk was unequal to the task and he sank into the arms of his handlers at the final count.

Four years ago Willard came up after being knocked down seven times in the first round of the fight in which he lost his title to Jack Dempsey. But while the same courage remained today he could not muster the strength to arise after that devastating attack of Firpo's.

Firpo's greater speed and ability to attack his big target at more angles gave him an early advantage. But the South American often displayed bad judgment of distance, and this, coupled with Willard's ability to block his opponent's rushes, resulted in little effective battling.

Willard accepted for an occasional jab with his left, stayed on the defensive waiting for a chance to shoot in an uppercut. But Firpo, a shifty object, gave him few opportunities.

In the first Firpo cut Willard's ear and in the fourth he pummeled the big Kansan about the ring with a drive to the head. Jess absorbed heavy punishment but came back in the next round with his only real offensive.

Firpo backed to the ropes under a barrage of blows to the head but Willard failed to follow up his advantage brief as it was. He seemed lethargic to carry the fight to his opponent. After that one flicker of fistic fire Willard subsided. Firpo paved the way for the end with a slashing attack in the sixth, weakening the big Kansan with a right to the body.

Willard showed a few flashes of form in the 7th but they were ineffective and the end came in the eighth after one minute and 55 seconds of fighting. Thus ended a fight that has no parallel in ring history for a bout in which no championship was at stake. But the fact that two of the most picturesque fighters the game has ever known—one a veteran trying to scale the heights again and the other a rugged, brilliant youngster—were to fight for a chance at the throne now occupied by Dempsey, proved the greatest magnet of any match in history. The main bout of the evening was followed by a flash of the dramatic which on another occasion would have attracted greater attention.

ROUND ONE.

Firpo came from his corner with a characteristic rush. Willard blocked his right and jabbed with a left. He drove home a right to the side of the head as the bell sounded.

Winner and Loser of Big Battle!

LUIS FIRPO.

JESS WILLARD.

Willard forced Jess to the ropes and cuffed the big fellow about the ribs.

Willard jabbed Firpo with a left to the head. Firpo swung both fists as they went into a clinch but inflicted no damage. Willard caught Firpo with an uppercut coming in. Firpo bounded from the ropes, landing a right to the stomach. He pummeled Willard about the head at close quarters but Jess only smiled. Willard was wild with a right and absorbed further punishment about the head. Firpo rushed in with both fists landing heavily. Jess rallied and drove Firpo to a corner as the bell rang.

Willard sent Firpo's head back with a straight left. He took a hard right to the jaw as they clinched. Firpo was short with his right. They clinched repeatedly as Firpo was blocked in his attempt to reach Willard's body. The crowd whose sympathies obviously were with the big American, chorused "Hurra, Jess," as the bell rang.

Firpo shot in his right to the neck. Willard covered up as he was short with his left. They jabbed lightly at long range as Firpo circled his opponent in search of an opening. Firpo drove rights and lefts to the jaw but failed to bore in. Willard seemed content to employ defensive tactics, blocking Firpo's powerful rights. They were sparring as the round ended.

EARLY NOTES ON FIGHT

RINGSIDE JERSEY CITY, July 12.—Dark was settling over one of the greatest, if not the greatest gathering of thousands that ever witnessed prize fight tonight when the first preliminary to the Firpo-Willard match, an eight rounder between Tom Roper, of Chicago and Al Bright, English heavyweight, was called shortly after 8:30 o'clock. The start was delayed while the lights over the ring were being fixed.

Official estimates at that time placed the crowd at more than eighty thousand with indications that additional thousands pouring in all entrances would fulfill Tex Rickard's prediction of a hundred thousand throng, eclipsing that of some ninety thousand that witnessed the Dempsey-Carpenter bout here two years ago.

By the middle of the first preliminary darkness had settled, broken only by the cluster of arc lights over the ring and electric spotlights on the rim of the bowl and the glow of cigars and cigarettes, which from the ringside, presented the picture of a flock of fireflies buzzing over the shadowy rows of spectators.

During the first preliminary the crowd was unusually quiet. The clang of the gong, the dull thud of blows, the occasional call of a pop corn vendor were almost the only sounds heard.

Al Bright, English heavyweight, a member of Firpo's training camp, and Tom Roper, of Chicago, struggled to a draw in the opinion most critics in an eight round bout, the first preliminary.

Bright opened a cut over Roper's eye in the third round, but he was wild and easy target for Roper's jabs. Bright weighed 205 and Roper 180.

The crowd grew more demonstrative during the second preliminary, when the first two contestants drove home some thudding wallop. At first there were a few individual cheers and cries, but these developed into a collective yell as the fight grew more interesting. Clouds of resin rose from the canvas as the heavyweights stamped about the squared circle.

At 9:30 o'clock the crowds were still awing toward the gates of the arena. For many blocks they could be seen wending their way along the streets.

Herman looked like an early winner in the first two rounds, drawing blood from Kramer's right eye and slugging the coast boy about the ring. Kramer, despite his disadvantage of weight came back and carried a whirlwind attack to Herman. He floored the Nebraskan twice for short counts in the sixth round, the bell saving Herman as he reeled to the ropes. Kramer also had an edge in the last two rounds, though both appeared somewhat groggy at the first bell. Herman weighed 215 and Kramer 195.

Cliff Kramer of San Francisco, outboxed and out-slugged Tiny Jim Herman of Omaha, in a slashing eight rounder, the second preliminary. He earned the victory, critics agreed, as the result of a sensational rally in the closing rounds, having Herman close to a knockout in the sixth.

The Willard-Firpo bout, star attraction of the heavyweight show, was staged at the conclusion of the third preliminary, a six rounder. It was announced from the ring that Jack McAuliffe-Floyd Johnson encounter, originally slated to be the semi-final, followed them and go and conclude the program.

A six round bout, the third preliminary, between George West of London and Clarke Nashert, of Jersey City, was stopped in the fourth round to save West from further punishment. Both weighed 160.

Firpo, already gloved was to enter the ring at 10:15. He wore a black and yellow bathrobe with purple trimmings. He received a good ovation as he took his corner and removed his gaudy outer raiment, disclosing himself garbed in purple tights.

Willard stepped through the ropes a minute later, wearing a pair of dark green tights and a white cord around his waist. Over his shoulders were slung an old gray coat, with a batch of papers bulging from the pockets. He received even a greater ovation than Firpo.

Both boxers received a gale of cheers as Joe Humphries, veteran announcer informed the crowd that the Kansas weighed 242 pounds and the man from the Argentine 214. Harry Lewis of Newark, who tips the scales at 155, then was introduced as referee.

Willard, who had entered the ring already wearing his gloves, stepped a neutral corner where he was joined by Firpo in a pose for the cameras. Both men returned to their corners.

Johnson Knocks Out McAuliffe In First Round

(By The Associated Press)

RING SIDE, July 12.—Floyd Johnson of Des Moines knocked out Jack McAuliffe 2nd of Detroit, in one minute and four seconds of the first round of their heavyweight bout staged on Boyle's Thirty Acres tonight as an epilogue to the Firpo-Willard bout.

One of McAuliffe's handlers sprinkled water on his back as he crouched near his corner and when Jeanette, Des Moines pugilist, acting as referee signified Johnson as winner, fight fans thought that he had disqualified the Detroit boxer. It was announced from the ring, however, that Jeanette had countered McAuliffe out.

Johnson, weighing 193 against McAuliffe's 196, raced into the fight at the sound of the gong. In a few seconds he had knocked McAuliffe flat on his back and the thud of his head could be heard almost on the rim of the giant saucer.

In a few seconds more the flying fighter from Des Moines pummeled McAuliffe almost through the ropes with a right to the jaw. McAuliffe, entering the ring, dropped to his knee, clinging to the ropes when he was counted out.

At this moment a shower of water fell on McAuliffe's back from his corner and a chorus of cries rose from Johnson's handlers, while the crowd sat agape. At this dramatic instant, Jeanette pointed to Johnson as victor and the fight ended.

McAuliffe was counted out as he crouched by the ropes. Johnson put him a sitting posture on the edge of the ring. He made the crowd crawl back but did not rise fully to his feet until just after the count of ten and the shower of water. The crowd at first believed that he had been before the fatal blow that Jeanette had disqualified him because of the action of his handlers.

WILLARD FINE MAN SAY LUIS FIRPO, VICTOR

(By The Associated Press)

RING SIDE, Jersey City, July 12.—Luis Angel Firpo, conqueror of Jess Willard, took his triumph with same solemnity that he displayed in the seven and a fraction rounds he required to put the giant Kansan down.

"Willard is a fine man. I am proud to have defeated him," he said. "I told that Willard had declared he would make 'great match' for Champion Dempsey, he said."

"I have never seen Dempsey in the ring, but I am anxious to get in the ring with him. I believe I can beat him."

Firpo said Willard had given him a tough battle. The blows the former champion landed, he said, hurt, backed as they were with the big Kansan's 242 pound of bulk.

Willard characterized Firpo as a good, tough hitter. "He certainly gave me a good hard fight," Willard said. "I don't want to alibi as I was fairly beaten, but my left arm was so sprained in the training that I could not scarcely use it at all. I had many openings for Firpo's face, but I couldn't jab hard enough to draw him."

Willard said the blow that put him down for the final count was a hard right cross to the jaw which had him groggy for several minutes after he had been counted out. In the eighth round he was groggy for thirty minutes after the fight, his trainers were patching him up in the dressing room.

Willard said he had not yet made his mind up as to whether he would probably would return to his home in Los Angeles in a few days.

Tex Rickard tonight said he probably would begin negotiations as to match Firpo with Jack Dempsey for a title match in either September or October.

Durham Loses To Furniture Makers

DURHAM, N. C., July 12.—Inability on the part of Durham to hit the pinches and poor base running caused the locals to lose here this afternoon High Point capturing the game by the score of 3 to 2. Their inability to hit in the 9th or rather Eldridge's effectiveness was demonstrated in the 8th when the Bulls crowded the bases by three singles in succession and failing to score with none out. With the bases full the next batsman struck out, the next was out on a fly and the next hit a light one to short, for an easy out.

Firpo's head in a clinch. Willard's left shot home twice to the jaw. Firpo showed a slight cut under his right eye. Willard took several blows to the head as the round ended.

Willard came out of his corner to take the aggressive. He landed two left jabs to Firpo's jaw. The latter clinched twice, apparently driving under the relentless pace he had set. But as he drew away from Willard, he suddenly launched a whirlwind drive to both head and body. Sensing his advantage, Willard's guard dropped from a jolting right, Firpo rained ed a volley of rights and lefts to the giant former champion's head. Willard tried to ward off Firpo's drive but his defensive tactics were ineffective. A powerful right straight to the chin sent Firpo reeling back to the ropes. Dazed and groggy he dropped slowly to one knee. He shook his head, much as a big mastiff might. He tried to rise at eight but could not lift his big bulk to his feet. He was lifted to his corner in a daze.

Danville Defeats Twins; Pointers Stop Durham

Twombly Master of Opposing Hitters

Tobaccoists, Led by Resco, Hit Miller Hard for 10 to 1 Victory.

Danville took the second game from Winston-Salem yesterday, 10 to 1. Pitcher "Cy" Twombly had the Twins eating out of his hand all the way and pitched shut-out ball, the visitors' lone run resulting from the pitcher's own error in fielding Miller's roller to first. He tossed the ball wide of Resco's reach, and the batsman reached second.

During the first seven innings, Manager Leard's pennant-chasers were able to glean but four scattered hits, but with the score 9 to 1, Twombly eased up and yielded two hits each in the eighth and ninth innings, both coming after two were out in the final inning. He struck out nine batsmen, Miller fanning three times, Faber being whiffed twice, while Manager Leard, Anderson, Hamby and Long breezed once each. Had Umpire McDonald called the third one on Fuhrey in the eighth, as many thought he should have done, the count would have been ten strike-outs.

The eight scattered bingles registered by the Twins were good for ten bases, including half-circuit drives by Fuhrey in the second and Long in the fifth. The Danville hammermen hit eight, 12 hits which were the first hit yielded by Miller, but the pitcher had a bad inning in the fourth, walking Smith and Murphy, being touched for a single by Eddie Regan, a double by George Resco and finally a single by Cochlin, this combination of scoring opportunities netting four runs. Again in the fifth, Pitcher Miller got his bumps. After Faber had thrown a double, Overtown, a single to left, Smith to right-center and the Floyd Trexler resumed his early season habit of hammering one over the garden wall in left.

Danville's final base runs blossomed from bingles by Regan and Resco, a fielder's choice by Cochlin, Resco's stolen base and Dorman's second single. Cochlin was called out by Umpire Ferguson for cutting second station.

Murray, who displaced Clark in center when Manager Laird returned from the game and sent Clark to second, had but one fielding chance and one single made. He made a pretty catch of Murray's fly to left in the ninth, thereby cutting off a run or two that would have resulted had he failed to nab the drive that looked good for one or more hits except Manager Murphy and Pitcher Twombly, and Murphy drew a pass in that fat fourth fracas and scored one of the quartet of runs on bases.

Dorman, who had singled and swiped second in the third inning, essayed to score on Overtown's single, but hesitated momentarily at third and just long enough for Carter's throw to nip him at the plate. He protested the decision, but it was a just one.

The most gratifying feature of the game from the standpoint of the home fans was the bunching of hits by the tobaccoists. Of the thirteen that made three each came in the third, fourth, fifth and eighth. The lone one was Resco's single in the sixth. Twombly forcing him at second, only to be himself forced at third by Dorman. This consecutive hitting and the conversion of hits into runs is especially noteworthy when one reflects that Danville had but three men left stranded on the sacks, while the Twins had had thirteen left on the corners. Incidentally, these figures show Twombly's effectiveness with men on bases.

Manager Murphy and his fine team will go to Raleigh for the rest of the season and return home to tackle Manager Herndon's High Point aggression here on Monday and Tuesday.

Greensboro Wins Over Raleigh 9-0

GREENSBORO, N. C., July 12.—Greensboro piled up a eight run lead in the first frame this afternoon while pitcher O'Quinn blanked the Capitals, the locals winning by the score of 9 to 0. The game was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of rain. The local twirler allowed Raleigh but three scattered hits for the six innings while the locals got eleven bingles most of them in the first. The box score:

ST. LOUIS 8; WASHINGTON 5

(By The Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, July 12.—St. Louis won its third straight game, defeating the Philadelphia Athletics today for the third straight time here, 8 to 5. After pitching five hitless innings, Davis, who had been in the sixth and seventh, Schliefer won the game in the eighth inning when he hit a home run with two men on bases. Sam Rice, who was injured yesterday when he crashed against the pavilion in attempting to catch a fly, was back in the line-up today.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Inability to hit Bob Shawkey in the early innings coupled with a heavy bombardment by the Yanks, which drove Ted Blankenship off the mound, enabled New York to make it three straight from Chicago today, 10 to 6. Ruth cracked out his twentieth homer of the season.

DETROIT, July 12.—A fighting finish by Detroit fell one run short of enough to tie the score and Boston won today's game six to five. Home runs by Burns, Gargner and Flanagan featured the Boston attack. Manager Cobb used five pitchers.

Kinks-o' the Links

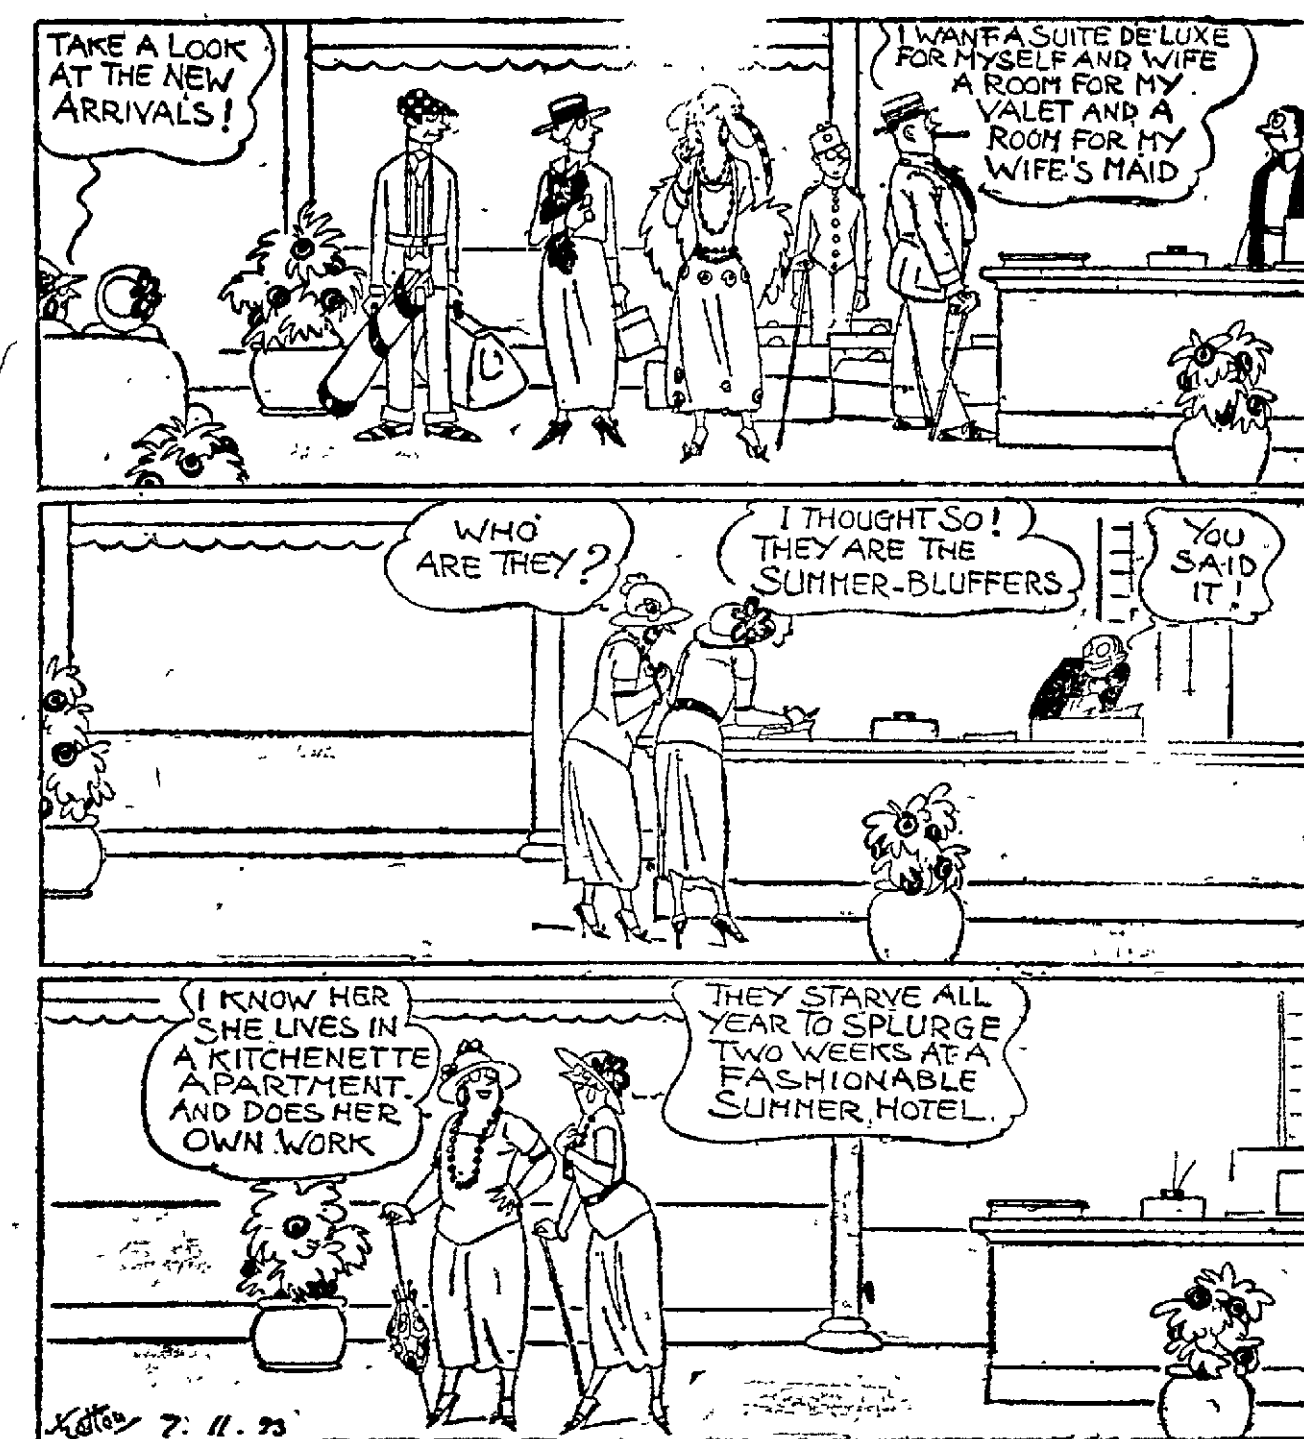

A boundary fence marks the prohibited area on a certain golf course. A player after driving from the tee discovers that his ball rests under the boundary fence, partly within and partly out of bounds. How should the ball be regarded "in bounds" or "out of bounds?"

The players must agree on the location of the ball. If a referee is in charge of the match he reaches a decision. A ball is regarded as "out of bounds" when a greater part of the ball rests within the prohibited area. Often a half line decision is required to decide a happening as related in the query.

Smith and Jones are playing a match game. Smith has a caddy while Jones is looking after his own sticks. Jones needs a long putt to win the hole. Smith's caddy voluntarily stood at the hole, holding the flagstick. Jones makes what appears to be a perfect putt and as the ball was about to enter the cup, the caddy jerks out the stick and keeps the ball from entering the hole. What about such a play? Is there a penalty because Smith's caddy prevented the ball from entering even though he had no such intention for must Jones hole out the ball.

No consideration can be given the intent of the caddy. Jones won the hole when his ball struck the flagstick held by Smith's caddy.

Grandstand Gaff

GRANDSTAND GAFF must mean another step nearer the Bulls, and according to the form displayed by Murphy's men it is now only a matter of time until they are on an equal plane with the Bovines.

The Virginians got off to a weak start but now seem to have hit their natural stride, and for a time at least the advance predictions—that Durham and Danville would be the chief contenders in the second struggle—seems to have been wise "dope." The Bulls are now in first place by a one-half game margin. With the Tobaccoists and Furniture Makers tied for second honors.

Cy Twombly had the old horseshoe hopping and breaking yesterday as masterfully as Willie Hoppe trots the ivory around the green cushions. Except for his own wide toss of a grounder to Resco he would have been credited with a shutout. The 13 Twins stranded on the ring explained how he had them striking "where they might have been, but were not" in the critical stages.

The entire club celebrated along with Twombly, the twirler and Manager Murphy being the only two not to secure a safety of the hard-hit Miller. Big George Resco and Trexler bumped one each over the palings in addition to the 10 singles secured on other occasions.

The husky first-sacker's spurt with the stick pleased the fans, considerably, and for that matter fans are not fans that won't be pleased with a cuit clout. A two-bagger and a pair of singles out of four trips up. Resco's perfect day places him at the .342 mark in the averages.

Umps Ferguson and Ben-Anderson furnished the crowd for the afternoon by their collision near the first station. Seems as if Ben would have been looking out for the bleacher fence and other hard substances, when he chased after that pop-up.

Eff Butts' celebrated his second coming out party at Durham yesterday with a two-ply swat. The pitchers now have another to class up in that dangerous group with Trexler, Smith, O'Hara, Long and a few others. Gooch is using his new addition in the center garden.

Speaking of the dangerous hitters, that Long who cavorts around in right field for the Twins, swings a stick that is liable to break up most any old ball game.

While his teammates were banging out 11 hits yesterday afternoon, Nickie O'Quinn was letting the Reich slingers down with three singles. It might also be noted that seven of those eleven safeties were secured while Duke Duncan was on the mound. He can be hit!

The Cleveland Indians are on a batting spree that has few equals in diamond history. Yesterday they pounded the Athletic moundsmen for 13 hits and 11 runs. But their victory failed to gain any ground on the Yanks, who were trimming the White Sox. Ruth getting his twentieth home run during the game.

The Pirates finally took one away from the Giants, splitting yesterday's double bill. The Reds were at the same time tightening up on second place by their win over the Phillies. Laque allowing only three scattered hits. The Cubans is the center of attraction in the majors at present.

Last night's battle—one of the greatest in ring history from nearly every standpoint—marked the passing of a fighter, who had more followers on the eve of his final encounter than he enjoyed while champion. Big Jess clothed himself in the raiments of a hero by his game but futile attempt to overcome Father Time for another try at the throne he once occupied, but today, although singling 130,000 pieces of silver he is down and out in the fist world—it was his last chance. Never a fighter by tempera-

ADJOURNMENT
TAKEN BY MINE
SUB-COMMITTEE

(By The Associated Press)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 12
—The check off, equalization of wages, differentials and other demands made by anthracite mine workers were discussed today by the sub-committee representing the employers and the workers who are trying to work out a new wage contract. The discussion, it was stated, was highly technical and no conclusion was reached on any point.

At a night session of the miners and operators discussed some of the demands without reaching a conclusion. The sub-committee adjourned until July 23, in Atlantic City.

The adjournment was taken to permit members of the scale committee of the mine workers from district number one, to return home and prepare for the district biennial convention next Monday at Wilkes-barre.

FISHING SCHOONER BURNS
AT SEA AFTER EXPLOSION

ST. PIERRE, Mig., July 12.—The French fishing schooner Basillou was destroyed by fire after a gasoline explosion yesterday. Thirty-four members of the crew were rescued, according to wireless advices received here today from the French cruiser Ville D'ys. The super-cargo of the Basillou, named Desgare, died later of his burns on the Ville D'ys.

Twenty-four men were picked up by the fishing schooner Eglantin, while the Ville D'ys rescued eight from the water. The Basillou, a three-masted schooner, burned while on a fishing trip to the Grand Banks.

GALE SENDS 4 SHIPS ASHORE

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
BUENOS AIRES, July 12.—Four steamers, including a passenger liner, have gone ashore on the Uruguayan coast following the worst gale in the south Atlantic in many years. The Munson liner Southern Cross from New York was not able to dock at Montevideo yesterday and was forced to put out to sea to ride out the gale. It has not returned to port but the captain sent a wireless saying that all was well.

British Miners In Chaotic Condition

High Union Official, Home From Trip, Says Outlook of Labor Is Hopeless.

By HARRY R. HUNT
(Special to The Bee.)
WASHINGTON, July 13.—As compared to American mine workers, who are steadily improving their position and are earning better wages and securing better living conditions than ever before, the situation of English and Welsh miners is becoming steadily more hopeless.
This is the word brought back by a high union labor official who has just returned from a study of conditions abroad. In connection with which he paid particular attention to English mines and mining.
Declining to quote any official statement of facts as he saw them would only add to the difficulty of the situation, he declared that England's whole industrial and labor problem could only be described by the one word "hopeless."
"English miners today," he said, "are receiving about two shillings or 48 cents per ton, for digging coal."
"A minimum wage is in effect which, as applied, becomes a maximum wage. Because if any miner seeking to increase his earnings, earns above the maximum wage for two consecutive weeks he finds his piece or ton-rate cut. Instead of earning two shillings a ton, he will be cut to one shilling, or whatever rate is necessary to bring his return barely above the legal minimum."
"This naturally slows down production. Efficiency is penalized. The result is that the production per day per man is small—less than one-fourth the tonnage produced by the average miner in our central bituminous field. As against an English production averaging only 1800 pounds per day per man, our production is above four tons. Furthermore, efficiencies in production in American mines enable us to deliver the coal at pit-mouth, despite much higher wages, at approximately half the cost of English coal. The average mine cost there is about 17 shillings per ton, or more than $4, as against an average in the central bituminous field here of $2.15.

"Why doesn't the English miner demand more pay, if he is underpaid?"
"Well, the big reason is that he knows it is not possible, under the limitations that now tie Great Britain's hands."
"England exports more than 85 per cent of her manufactured products. Unless she can do a tremendous export business, her industries close. When her factories fail to compete with the products of Germany, France, Italy and other low-wage nations, her mines also shut down."

"Production costs in England today are as high as they can go and still by meeting competition of other countries find a market for their wares. Manufacturers admit the deplorable position of labor, but say, 'If by paying another shilling per ton for coal our costs are increased to the point where we lose our markets, the increase will lose the miners their jobs instead of benefiting them. For the mills would have to shut down.'"

"That is, briefly, the situation. In a country, however, where we consume more than 85 per cent of our products, increased wages, increasing the buying power of the masses, adds to the general prosperity. Such higher prices as may be necessary are more than offset by the consequent prosperity and improved living conditions of the people."
"Another factor that is rapidly creating an impossible condition in English industry is the government dele or 'unemployment pay' "About 1,500,000 men out of which are now receiving this dele, which I believe, amounts to 15 shillings a week."

"I spent a week-end in the home of one family where there were two sons. One of them had been on the dele for about a year. The other was in the mines."
"The boy who was getting unemployment pay received, for doing nothing, 15 shillings for the week. The one who had labored six days in the mines and earned 19 shillings, was given the dele for the second day to work, in other words, was just four shillings a week. That was the total of the difference between what he got for working and what he would have gotten on the dele."
"Such a situation, of course, cannot last. Already many men are simply giving up the fight and accepting the dele instead of trying to earn the minimum wage. The difference is negligible. Either one means to give up, or the other means to live on the dele. When that is the sole prospect, most men would rather accept it without work than labor six days a week for it."
"With the increasing dele roll, the taxpaying burdened to the limit, are protesting more loudly. In fact, the whole circle of English industrial existence seems so hopeless, from the workers' viewpoint, that no one can even venture to predict a way out."

Sewers Flooded With Beer; Brewers Pouring It Out

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
NEW YORK, July 13.—Harlem sewers were flooded with beer today, and will continue to flow for several days to come. Eight hundred and sixty thousand gallons of beer, in cases of 100 to 200 gallons capacity, are being destroyed by Bernheimer and Schwartz, brewers of 125th street west, according to prohibition officials.
Some time ago the brewers sold their property and went out of business. The beer on hand is the surplus which was not decoloredized to less than one-half of one per cent. It is being destroyed by the city several days to complete. The beer is being dumped into drain pipes in the buildings, carrying it out to the sewers.

STOCK MARKET

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 13.—Speculative sentiment was somewhat unsettled at the opening of the day's stock market, but most of the standard industrial and railway stocks tended to steady ground. Initial gains of one and one-half points were recorded by American Car, American Can and Corn Products, while U. S. Steel, Studebaker and American Locomotive opened fractionally higher. Some of the minor oils were heavy.

COTTON MARKET
(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 13.—The cotton market opened unsteady at unchanged prices to 14 points higher on overnight buying orders, which appeared to be based on apprehension of drought damage to the crop in the southwest. There was also some buying on the firm opening of the cotton market, but the demand seemed to be quite readily supplied at about the opening quotations and prices soon turned easier. October eased off from 22.55 to 22.85, with the active months ruling about 4 points net lower during the early trading.

KANSAN WILL GET $120,000 AND FIRPO $80,000

(By The Associated Press.)
RING SIDES, JERSEY CITY, July 12.—Jess Willard will receive about $120,000 and Luis Firpo around $80,000 for their battle tonight. These figures were based on estimated total receipts of $400,000. Willard receiving 30 per cent and Firpo 22 per cent of the gross amount.
Official check, however, Tex Rickard said, will not be completed until tomorrow. His estimate of an attendance of more than 100,000 he said was inclusive of all within the bowl. Police, ushers and others who did not figure in the box office total.

Besides the vast crowd that packed the arena, hung on the rim and blocked the aisles, it was estimated that nearly 25,000 others were turned away after that last available inch of space had been filled and the gates closed.
Thousands of those unable to gain admittance scaled surrounding bluffs, buildings and other points of vantage to view the ring battle from afar.
